By STUART R. PADDOCK

We were interested this weekend in a radio discussion regarding gambling. A panel member made the statement that as the end of prohibition put the syndicate "out of business," so would the passage of a law that would legalize the placing of race track bets at the corner grocery or Marshall Fields.

Uncle Sam has legalized slot machines, but any tavern owner will tell you that a syndicate still gets a slice of the profits.

The director of Internal Revenue, who issues weekly reports of gaming and wagering stamps will release this week the names of all buyers over a 12-month period. What will we do with it? Throw it in the waste basket, of course.

Law enforcing agencies know who they are, anyway, and why should we advertise gaming spots to the suckers?

We have often wondered if practice of pinpointing a school, park or other civic building by the direction from the center of town is a relic of old days, or is used for easy identification.

In Palatine, it is the "south side cemetery," originally called the "German cemetery." In Arlington Heights we have 3 schools on school land in the southern part of the village.

The term "South school" is accepted as meaning all three.

We note that Arlington Heights Park District has designated its new property as South Park.

The naming of Recreation park was made in a popularity contest, conducted by the Herald. We can understand the practice of naming schools after the street on which they are located, but we think Arlington's new public park is entitled to a distinctive name of its own.

Perhaps the park board is waiting for a good suggestion.

The Fence Post was in receipt this week of a gem of a contribution from a telephone operator in reply to a complaint filed officially with the telephone company by residents of a Palatine residential area.

It was an adequate and appropriate reply to the "hot seat" on which the operators were evidently placed as a result of the complaint.

On the possibility that the temperature of that "hot seat" might become hotter, we are withholding the story—even from the telephone company, itself.

The public always considers it is open season on editors. Now telephone operators have been added to the list.

Never mind, Palatine will be served by dial next summer.

Mrs. Albert C. Peters, Arlington Heights Civil Defense Director, in a report presented to Arlington Heights village board last week, outlined the position that Arlington Heights occupies in the national program.

She has, no doubt, done an excellent job in setting up the machinery that Arlington Heights needs, to safeguard property and human life in case bombs fall on Arlington.

We are publishing in this issue the informative portion of Mrs. Peter's report and suggest its perusal by all readers. The defense director should have the cooperation of officialdom and the general public.

Ray Landmeier, Arlington Heights merchant, is on the spot. Bill Poole, Buick salesman, while playing golf with Landmeier last Thursday, asked Ray, "When are you going to order that new Buick?"

The reply was "When you make a hole in one."

That is just what Poole did in a drive of 235 yards. Bill says he has the order all filled out, waiting for Landmeier to sign on the dotted line.

We hope Poole lands that order, but we wish we knew upon what golf course that hole-in-one was made.

There is nothing wrong with the radio name "Herb Carl," used by Herbert C. Skoog Jr., who has charge of public relations of radio station KONO, San Antonio.

It was a bit of a shock, however, to read in the San Antonio Light that he had dropped the well-known name of "Skoog" for "Herb Carl."

Renwick Cary, a columnist of the newspaper, San Antonio Light, explains it this way:

"With his younger brother, George Skoog, now in basic training at Lackland, Herb Carl, the KONO disc jockey, finds introducing him around no simple matter.

"Herb is continually having to go into this explanation: "You see, my real name is Carl Herbert Skoog Jr. But did you ever try to say Skoog over the air? It just isn't a good name for broadcasting. People would never figure how it was spelled or anything. So, I call myself Herb Carl."

We can understand why parents get all up in the air over the many reports of polio vaccine. We have been up in the air over the same thing in the last 2 issues of this column.

This week's story is vouched for by 2 physicians so we guess we are right this time.

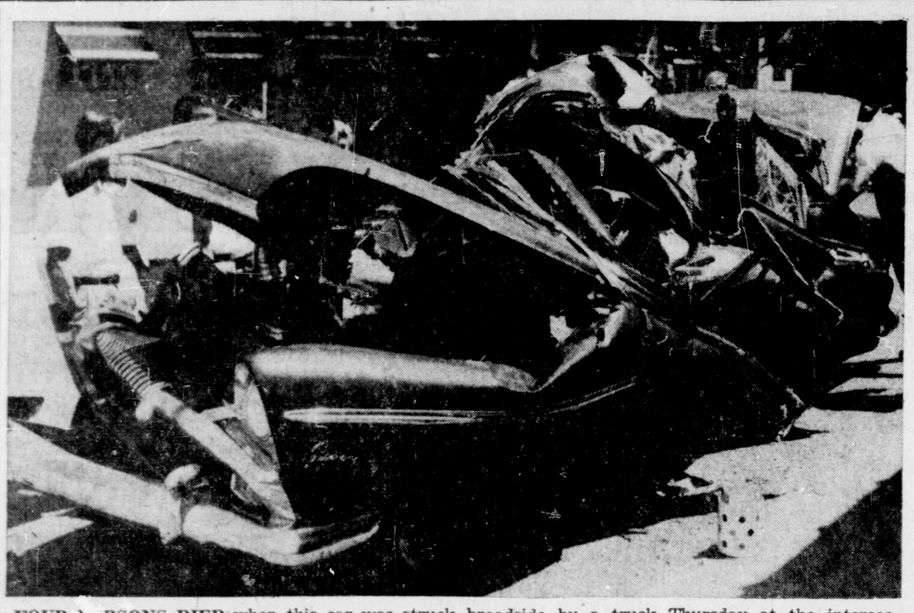
Arlington Crest is profiting by experience and is not waiting for somebody else to annex it into a park district. If approval is giyen at a special election August 3, it will be part of Salt Creek Rural Park District.

Reports have it Rolling Meadows may withdraw from Palatine Park District and form one of its own.



FOUR PERSONS DIED when this car was struck broadside by a truck Thursday at the intersection of Dundee and Barrington rds., a mile south of Barrington. They were Mrs. Anne Jacobsen of Palatine, Mrs. Terry Roth of Barrington Woods and 2 of her 3 children, Kenneth, 9 and Gale Ann, 6 months. (For details see story.) —Staff photo

Four Die In Dundee Rd. Crash; Boy, 6, Only Survivor Of Car

Dennis Roth, 6-year-old Barrington Woods boy critically injured Thursday in an auto-truck accident that claimed 4 lives, was "considerably improved," his doctor said Tuesday.

The doctor said the lad's condition had taken a turn for the better since Saturday. Over the weekend he was given transfusions of 4 pints of blood. His chances of recovery ars now "good," added the doctor. However, the boy remained on the critical list at Sherman hospital.

Dennis' injuries, pending a more complete examination, were as basal skull fracture, multiple fractures to right side of face, nose and lower jaw and several facial cuts.

Dennis was the sole survivor in a car of 5 occupants. Killed in the collision at Barrington and Dundee roads about 11:20 a.m. Thursday were:

Mrs. Terry Roth, 34, of Barrington Woods, and 2 of her children, Gale Ann, 6 months, and Kenneth, 9.

Mrs. Anne Jacobsen, 18, of 1 N. Brockway street, Palatine.

Also injured in the crash was the driver of the truck, Leonard Tyson, 32, of Chicago, who suffered fractures of the left arm and ribs. He was headed west on Dundee road in a tractor-trailer owned by the Lassner Iron and Metal company of Chicago.

STATE POLICE said the Jacobsen car went through a stop sign on Barrington road for Dundee road and was struck broadside by the truck. Testimony at the inquest in Barrington Friday established that the truck skidded 50 feet before striikng the car. The truck carried the auto into a power pole at the northwest corner of the intersection. The auto landed in a pasture with the truck on top of it.

Fallen power lines ignited grass fires and rescurers were unable to reach the car until power was shut off. Barrington firemen worked an hour before they were able to extricate Dennis Roth.

Mrs. Roth and her son and daughter were pronounced dead at the scene; Mrs. Jacobsen died in Sherman hospital.

AT THE INQUEST the driver of the truck stated that he had slowed to 35 miles an hour approaching the intersection and that his truck was equipped with a governor set at 40 m.p.h. The coroner's jury handed down a verdict of accidental death, recommending that 4-way stop signs be erected at the intersection.

Surviving Mrs. Roth in addition to Dennis Roth, are husband Russel W., superintendent of the Addison plant of Perma Stone corp., 3 brothers and 2 sisters. A funeral mass was said Monday morning for the Roths at St. Catherine of Siena church and buriel was in Queen of Heaven cemetery.

The body of Mrs. Jacobsen was taken to the home of her parents in Hammond, Louisiana for the funeral. She is survived by her husband Bertel, a foreman at the Addison Perma Stone plant, her parents and 3 brothers.

Tragic Death Of Car Wreck Victims Felt By Thousands

by TOM BRENNAN

In an age when death on the highway is an everyday occurence, Thursday's killing of 4—a mother and 2 of her 3 children and another young housewife—brought to thousands a sense of personal tragedy and loss.

These thousands did not know either the Jacobsen or Roth families.

These thousands knew only that here were 2 families which were much like theirs.

One was a young childless couple married less than a year. The wife was a teen-age bride who with her husband had moved into their apartment in Palatine, their first real home, less than 2 months ago. The week before her death the young wife had proudly purchased new living room furniture.

The other family, the Roths, had moved into a new home in Barrington Woods, a subdivision north of Palatine, 10 months ago. Thousands could with Mr. Roth experience in a minor way a feeling of utter loss at the destruction of three-fifths of his family.

TWO OF THOSE who felt this sense of loss most keenly pieced together the story of their common friendship with Mrs. Roth and Mrs. Jacobsen. The two are Mrs. Monica Thompson, a housewife and part-time waitress at the Palatine grill, across the street from the Jacobsen apartment, and Mrs. Esther Collins, whose apartment is down the hall from the Jacobsens'.

This is their story.

RUSSELL ROTH first got to know Bertel Jacobsen through their common employment at the Addison plant of the Perma Stone corporation. Jacobsen was a foreman, working a crew out of Chicago. Last year Jacobsen went to Louisiana to work, there marrying Anne Gatlin, a small town girl from Hammond, Louisiana.

This year the Jacobsens came to the Chicago area to work, wages being higher here than in Louisiana. The couple lived in a trailer court for several weeks, locating an apartment in the DePue building at Brockway and Chicago avenue in Palatine with the assistance of Mrs. Thompson and others at the grill.

The Collins and the Jacobsens moved into the DePue apartments about the same time as the Roths, early in May. These 2 women and Mrs. Roth and Mrs. Thompson became fast friends. Morning coffees were often shared at the small but friendly restaurant across the street.

ALL OF THEM except Mrs. Roth were nowcomers to Palatine and so enjoyed the talks and visits all the more. When the accident happened Mrs. Jacobsen was driving Mrs. Roth and the children to Dundee where she was to buy a pair of lamps for her bedroom.

Three of them had planned a shower for Friday night for Mrs. Collins, who is expecting a baby next month. Mrs. Jacobsen had purchased a cake decorated with a stork and a box of diapers.

Friday the shower went on as planned but it was a tearful affair.

Life, too, had to continue for them and for the thousands.

But it may have comforted the sorrowing husbands to know that many had briefly at least shared in their bereavement.

Official Dies Suddenly

Jerome Greenberg, superintendent of Randhill and vice president of the association, died suddenly last Friday. He was laid to rest Monday in the cemetery in which he had taken so important a part. Mr. Greenberg was at one time an assistant to the county superintendent of schools.

Nate Leavitt, who is sales manager of Randhill, at present has taken over the direction of cemetery affairs.

Water Tank Spurs New Wrath From Residents

Call Special Election To Vote on New Park District

Residents of Arlington Crest and an area south of Palatine corporate limits between Hicks and Rohlwing roads, have filed a petition asking for a special election to vote on the formation of Salt Creek Rural Park District. The north boundary is Palatine road.

An election will be held August 3 to vote on the proposition. The polling place will be at Gaare Oil Co. Polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. Candidates for committeemen are J. A. Stenzel, Kenneth Goodpasture, Robert Nordstrom, John Philippi and George A. Sturm. The first 3 are residents of Arlington Crest. The petition was filed by Attorney Francis E. Kelly.

The action is sponsored by Arlington Civic Association. "We have no ax to grind," says Goodpasture. "We just want to protect ourselves from being made a part of some other park district."

The territory included is substantially that which is participating in the disconnection proceedings from the City of Rolling Meadows. Those proceedings are before the state supreme court which is expected to render a decision in September.

None of the proposed area of Salt Creek Rural Park District is a part of the existing Palatine Rural Park District which includes Rolling Meadows.

Hetke Is New Ridge Principal

At a meeting of the board of education of school district 25 last week, Richard Hetke was appointed as principal of Ridge school.

He succeeds Dennis Malcolmson, who will become head of the Prospect Heights school.

HETKE HAS served the district as a teacher of fourth and fifth grades at the North school for 5 years, having taught 2 years in Arcadia, Calif., before joining the local staff. He holds a Master's degree from Roosevelt university.

The new principal will take up his duties on August 13, after which time he will be in his office to enroll new students and to prepare for the opening of the new school year.

Urge Residents To Take Free X-Rays

Last year less than 12 per cent of the adults in Arlington Heights could spare a minute or 2 for a free chest X-ray — the best protection against tuberculosis.

A much greater participation this year is the hope of the village public health committee. The committee is sponsoring the chest X-ray program in Arlington. A mobile unit will be parked in front of 9 W. Campbell from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. today and 1:30 to 8:30 p.m. Friday. There is no charge; taxes and Christmas seals pay for the X-rays, available to anyone 15 years or older.

Home Owners Oppose Site In 'Back Yard'

Residents of the neighborhood around Oakton street and Ridge avenue Tuesday said they aren't going to go along with the decision of the Arlington Heights village board to put an elevated water tower in their midst.

Just what shape their struggle would assume was uncertain Tuesday, as press time was before the start of the board meeting. A spokesman for the neighborhood did not commit himself on whether a delegation would attend the meeting.

IN JUNE the village board voted 4-1, with Trustee Forrest F. Davis dissenting and Trustee Robert B. Bishop absent, to authorize purchase of property on Ridge avenue, 200 feet north of Oakton street for the tank.

A petition containing 170 names of residents opposing its construction had previously been filed with the board. Virginia Terrace already had defeated a move to locate the tank there.

Joseph Pucciarelli, 1104 N. Walnut avenue, a shoe repair store operator, contended on behalf of the area that a tank would lower property values. He favored a site in the central business district, along the highway or farther out from residential areas.

RESIDENTS are seeking funds to wage a legal battle in a door-to-door canvass of the area. How successful the campaign has been was not disclosed.

As the lots are now zoned only for residences, the tangle may take the form of a protest against rezoning. Board members said at a recent meeting that rezoning may be unnecessary, however.

Pucciarelli likened the Arlington Heights situation to a case in Westchester, one of Chicago's western suburbs. There the village actually put up an elevated tank in a residential area. A builder instituted a court suit which eventually wound up in the state Supreme Court. The court ruled against the village and the tank came down.

LATER, Westchester authorities decided to put the storage tank in a cemetery, only to have cemetery lot owners file a suit. The decision is pending in Circuit court.

Raymond Harkrider, the lawyer for the builder in the Westchester suit, said Monday that the city of Chicago has all underground storage facilities, with 30 million gallons of storage capacity under construction. He also noted that in 50 suburbs served with Chicago water, underground storage facilities exceed elevated tanks by a ratio of 9 gallons to 1 gallon.

Mayor Takes Stand On Water Supply

Mayor Albert Goedke has received many inquiries about the water situation in Arlington Heights.

He feels it is acute and decisive action should be immediately taken by the board. Shortage of water on the north side of the village is basically caused by lack of water storage in that area.

HE RECOMMENDS that an elevated water storage tank be erected and a deep well drilled in the northwest areas; that a 10-inch main be constructed from the Douglas well to Oakton st., also connect the Douglas main on East Euclid.

The ban on sprinkling between 4 and 9 o'clock is a safety measure, says the mayor, and its enforcement is the only way that we assure an ample supply of water for family use and fire protection.

"I am sorry," says the mayor, "but the welfare of human beings is more important than green lawns."

Fire Ruins Piper's Shop In Park Ridge

A $150,000 fire in downtown Park Ridge Monday afternoon razed a 2-story brick building which housed a record shop, a Chinese restaurant, and Piper's Chocolate shop.

Homer Piper, owner of the chocolate shop, estimated his loss at $40,000 to $50,000. He also owns Piper's Chocolate shop at 15 E. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

About 40 persons escaped from Piper's without injury. Park Ridge Fire Crief Norman Brown said the fire at 31-33 S. Prospect started in a defective motor in the kitchen of Piper's.

Housewives, Husbands Wage Fresh Battle At Builder

Housewives and husbands in Arlington Knolls and Virginia Terrace aren't giving up in their battle to force a subdivider to provide land or money for schools.

Saturday, for the fourth weekend in a row, they will patrol in a picket line in front of model homes erected along Palatine road, north of Arlington Heights, by Trendel, Lowe and Associates.

The model homes are the first of 575 which this firm hopes to erect on 200 acres adjoining Arlington Heights on the north, between Thomas st. and Palatine rd. Construction is being held up pending rezoning by the Cook county Zoning Board of Appeals.

Arlington Knolls and Virginia Terrace are in Wilson school district, as would be the 575-home Lynnwood subdivision. Residents of the 2 subdivisions say they will picket "until we get results," that is, until Trendel-Lowe agrees to financially assist the school district. Residents claim that their 6-room school would be overburdened by the anticipated influx of pupils from Lynnwood.

PICKETING HAS been "peaceful," say the pickets, adding that they have discussed the school situation only with persons who have seen their signs and approached them. Groups of 4 and 5 pickets patrol in 2-hour shifts Saturdays and Sundays.

An early decision by the zoning board is expected on a side issue which has delayed the zoning matter for more than a month. The 2 engineering firms which testified at 2 hearings have both been charged with violations of the engineers' professional code of ethics. Briefs summarizing charges against both firms were filed by June 30. The zoning board early this week had not set a date for resumption of the hearings.

WILSON SCHOOL board is being joined by the village of Arlington Heights in protesting against rezoning from farmland to residential use. The school district opposes development of Lynnwood unless the builder makes a donation while the village has contended that the discharge of affluent from a proposed sewage treatment plant would run into the Arlington Heights sewer system and so be a burden on the village sewer system.

Touchy Tongues

The tongue is the most delicate organ of touch.

Jeering, Cheering Mark Stormy Elk Grove Session

by TOM BRENNAN

Boos, applause and frequent shouting matches marked a meeting last Wednesday night on a proposal to incorporate 4 square miles of Elk Grove township as a city.

The meeting of the school district 59 Men's association at times became so disorderly that a breakup appeared imminent. However, calmer heads prevailed each time and the session concluded amicably after 2 and a half hours.

Most of the shouting came from a handful of farmers who protested against their inclusion in the proposed city.

The farms were included in a long corridor joining 2 populous areas in the city. The proposed boundaries were so drawn, according to an association official, only because at least 1,000 residents within 4 square miles are needed to form a city. (Requirements for formation of a village differ but because the municipality would adjoin Des Plaines, a village can't be incorporated.)

NO ONE HAS YET suggested a name for the city, the name of Elk Grove having been pre-empted for the village which holds an incorporation election next Tuesday.

The city would extend from Oakton st. and Tonne rd. southeast almost to Mt. Prospect and Higgins rds., including areas on both sides of Higgins rd. and Oakton st. A narrow corridor would run from its western end south along the east side of Tonne rd., west along the north side of Devon ave., north along Arlington Heights rd. to Biesterfield rd. and west to take in Elk Grove Manor subdivision.

Some farmers in the corridor strip stated in no uncertain terms their opposition to inclusion on grounds that it would raise their taxes. Chief spokesman for them was Walter Sass, whose property along Tonne rd. is opposite what will become the village of Elk Grove.

AT THE START of the meeting, Ernest Cavallo, district school superintendent and active proponent of incorporation, told the group that incorporation would cost about $500. He explained the background of the proposal and outlined the problems facing the area. After he had spoken and answered questions for an hour, persons in the audience interrupted him with shouts of "Why don't you stay and run your school?" and "Let somebody talk who lives here."

(Cavallo lives in Williams Bay, Wis., but intends to move into the area later this summer.)

Cavallo yielded the floor to a vice-president of the men's association, Vincent Nunamaker, who finally got the discussion back on an orderly track.

LATER, PAUL COLLINS, attorney for the school district advised the audience:

"Don't kid yourselves about incorporation. Forming of a city won't remedy the errors of the past. The question is: Do you want to plan for the future?

"You can't stop progress," Collins continued. "Those who want a city want to absorb growth with a minimum of financial strain. A city would have a limited control over subdivisions within a mile and a half of its limits and it might, for example, work out with subdividers a method of providing adequate schools,"

The attorney doubted that taxes would rise because the city would not have to provide such services as sewer and water systems. Homes in the area now have septic tanks and individual wells.

Sass at this point charged Collins with misleading the audience in order to gain appointment as the attorney for the proposed city. Collins replied that he is not seeking the appointment.

IT DEVELOPED that the corridor strip which caused most of the trouble at the meeting may be excluded from the city but no final decision was made on boundaries. Of about 40 from the area around Higgins rd. and Oakton st., indicated they favored a city. Most of them were younger residents who have purchased homes in new subdivisions within the last 5 years.

Both sides gave out with boos and cheers during the evening, the farmers vocally exploding oftener but the city-folk the louder because of their greater numbers.

Next meeting of the association was set for 8 p.m., July 10 in the basement of Elk Grove school.

Pat arranged a surprise party for the occasion conspiring with his neighbors and Bari certainly was surprised. Neighbors and friends who joined the O'Deas were Elaine and Bob Maley, Caroline and Chris Lorensen, Eleanor and Joe De Zonna, Edna and Carl Stuart, Don Rice, the McClanahans, Pat and Don Nelson, Tom and Joan Brehm of Chicago, houseguests of the Nelsons, Ingrid and John Selfridge of While Bluff, Ill. and Margaret Kendziork of Pittsburgh, houseguest of the O'Deas.

Here 'N There

With summer here the familiar tree forts are being built in the grounds just beyond the homes on Yale ave. Residents are glad to see the boys having fun but would like them to keep off lawns and away from shrubbery growing at the back of their property. One woman had to move 8 bicycles from her drive in order to pull her car out. Had she not been observant, many bicycles may have been ruined. So boys, have your fun, but be considerate of people's property.

Jackie and George Rudolphy, 1507 St. James, and Jean and Allen Barry, 1511 St. James spent a 4-day holiday in Townsend, Wis. Fishing was their main objective and 1 pike and 3 bass were caught in this vacation spot which is 350 miles from Arlington.

Familiar face in Westgate last week was Rickey Milne, who formerly lived on Euclid ave. The Milnes are now living in Wauwautosa, Wis. and Rickey and the children were here for a visit.

An afternoon lawn party was held last Thursday at the home of Gerry Martinell, 119 Wilke, for Shirley Goodman who moved from Westgate last Saturday. Ten guests were present at the gathering and cake and coffee were served for refreshments.

Out Of Town Guests

The Snoyers, Mary Margaret and Ernie, 1503 Fremont, have been host to many out of town guests these past few weeks. John P. Nuchols Jr. of Oak Ridge, Tenn. spent a week here. John is a student of the University of Georgia and is now in Canada where he is a guide for the summer months at a canoe base. Tom L. Nuchols also spent a week here and has now returned to Oak Ridge where he is a Red Cross swimming instructor for the summer. Both John and Tom are brothers of Mary Margaret. Ernie's mother, Mrs. A. R. Snoyer of Philadelphia, enjoyed a week's vacation here seeing all the sights possible in such a short visit. Final guests were old school friends of Ernie's, Bob and Roye Postian and children of Detroit, who were here for a 2-day visit.

Strike One

A baseball team has been organized by Bud DeZonna, 402 Reuter and is comprised of a group of men in his vicinity. Bud's team has an over-abundance of men now and he has suggested that other teams organize here in Westgate to play against each other. This team played against a group of men from Arlington Greens last week and were beaten by a final score of 15-10. Men interested in playing ball should get a team together and then call Bud who will be happy to arrange a game.

Another baseball team, made up of the smaller fry from Westgate are the Spartans, one of the teams playing in Little League this summer. They have been running a rather smooth course, having won 6 games and lost 3. They are in second place in their division of the league. Frank DeRosa, 235 Yale, is manager of the Spartans and coaches are Ed Kabat, Andy Graczyk and Dick Burkett. Team members from Westgate and positions they play are Michael Graczyk and Darrell Burkett, catchers, Michael Granis, Tom Kabat, Bob Herigodt, and Jim Winkler, outfielders, and Jim Baschleben and Don Mullner, infielders.

Eastwood Events

Anyone wondering about the Eastwood association, here is a report on what is going on. The newly-elected officers and board of directors met recently to set up committees and make up an agenda for the coming year. President Norm Hoym will announce his committees and their respective chairmen as soon as is possible. There is a lot of ground work to be done, when a new group of officers takes over, so while the rest of the community relaxes the board members are putting many hours of work to better serve Eastwood members the coming year.

The Mel Hartings' oldest son, Jimmy, was host to a group of playmates June 29, the occasion being his ninth birthday. The boys enjoyed refreshments, games and ball playing at the afternoon party. A second birthday celebration was held Sunday with grandparents and other relatives on hand to congratulate Jim.

Grace Urges Athletes To Go To Own Doctors For Athletics Physicals

Because of the great increase in numbers, it is virtually impossible for one physician to give all the athletic physicals now, according to H. W. Grace, director of athletics at Arlington Heights high school. All AHHS athletes are urged to go to the doctor of their choice.

The athlete may pick up his physical examination card at the telephone desk in the high school office. He is requested to take his physical sometime during the summer. All football candidates must have theirs before August 27. All this applies to incoming freshmen and transfer students as well as former students and applies to boys in all nine of the school's interscholastic sports.

WITH A NEW ELECTRIC RANGE!

The happiest surprise a woman gets with her new electric range is that her kitchen stays cool in hot weather . . . even if the oven's on for hours!

The reason: a modern electric range keeps your kitchen about 10 degrees cooler. Why? It keeps the heat in the oven where it belongs.

But electric ranges offer many other advantages. Today, nothing cooks faster! And many have thermostat-controlled surface units that put an end to pot watching. And they are cleaner to cook with. Your kitchen stays about twice as clean.

You'll also find scores of "new idea" features. There are automatic roast meters, French-door ovens, built-in rotisseries, and many more. See them now at your electric appliance dealer's. Find out how easy it is to have a modern electric range in your kitchen.

Big saving—we pay part of your range installation cost!
Need modern wiring? We share the cost with qualified home owners in 1, 2 and 3-family dwellings.

And you get more than a money saving!

Former Arlington Boy Greets Old Friends

Richard Scheele, better known among old time customers of Arlington Bootery where he was employed over 10 years ago, as "Dick", greeted old friends over the weekend. He was on his way home after attending the Triennial convention of the Lutheran church-Missouri Synod at Minneapolis.

Richard is in charge of a Lutheran grade school at Alhambra, Calif. His family kept the home fires burning while Dad attended the convention as a delegate from California.

He had little difficulty in recognizing former Arlington friends but he says only one of those friends remembered him.

Budget Provides For Double Park Service In 1957

The appropriation ordinance of Arlington Heights park district published in this issue has some interesting figures.

The recent bond issue approved by voters requires a doubling of facilities and provides equal service for both south and north side parks.

Naturally the new budget shows a heavy increase. There are now 2 parks and swimming pools to be maintained.

THE BOARD is impartial in the maintenance and recreational program of its 2 parks.

It is anticipated that southsiders will need as much soap, $1500 worth, as those patronizing recreation park.

Provision is made for $3500 for recreational salaries at each.

Doubling the parks means doubling salaries, although with the south park taking over the present overload, a cut was made in some of the appropriations given to Recreation park last year.

SUMMED UP, half of the new budget will go to bond and interest payment amounting to $80,000; general corporate purposes will require $54,000; recreational program $26,000.

The grand total, exclusive of items for collection loss, is $160,000. (A-1

Housewives, Note: Fresh Vegetables Better For You

Homemakers who have had a vegetable garden recognize the fresh flavor of home-grown vegetables and their economy.

But how many realize the nutritional benefits of these fresh vegetables?

Analyses show that most fresh vegetables, contain larger amounts of many vitamins and minerals than canned vegetables, says Mary McAuley, University of Illinois foods instructor.

FRESH CORN, for example, contains twice as much magnesium, vitamin A and vitamin C as canned corn, 3 times as much vitamin D and seven times as much vitamin B. In addition, fresh corn provides more protein.

Fresh spinach is an excellent source of vitamin A. Fifty grams (approximately one-half cup steamed) furnishes the adult minimum daily requirement of this vitamin. An equal amount of canned spinach gives only half as much vitamin A.

Furthermore, fresh spinach provides three times as much vitamin B and D and 7 times as much vitamin C as canned spinach. It does, however, give slightly less iodine.

THE ANALYSES also show that leaf lettuce has greater nutritive value than head lettuce. Leaf lettuce provides ten times as much vitamin A as head lettuce.

The amounts of protein, vitamin B and vitamin C are the same. But head lettuce gives only half much iodine and vitamin D and one-third as much calcium as leaf lettuce. (DL

Small Crowd, But Unique Play A Box Office Smash

by TOM BRENNAN

Half those who purchased tickets didn't show up at a performance of "Black Beauty' 'in Arlington Heights Friday.

The producers and cast didn't seem to mind at all.

They were, if anything, relieved. There wouldn't have been chairs enough for everybody, anyway.

Probably the odd hour of curtain-raising—11 a.m.—cut down attendance. That's a busy hour for mothers along N. Kaspar street.

What did matter is that the show was an outstanding success as a beenfit for the Northwest Community Hospital building fund.

And artistically — well, certainly no one could criticize the enthusiasm of the cast, which ranged in age from 3 through 9.

The project was the brainchild of 9-year-old Patricia Leu, of 1004 N. Kaspar. She also contributed the theater, a backyard, and a black and white spaniel named Lady.

Joining Patty on stage were her sister Susan, 6; Shirley, 9, Richie, 7, and Linda Pilip, 3; John Huskey, 8; Linda Piepenbrink, 8; Donny Martin, 8, and John McNamara, 6, all of the 900 and 1000 blocks on N. Kaspar.

THE KIDS collected $3.50 for the fund while holding their prices down to rock-bottom: 3 cents for reserved and front center seats, 2 cents for rear and side seats and 1 cent for popcorn and kool-aid.

And just to show how badly they want a hospital, even the actors bought tickets. (AF

Chicago Destined To Be World's Queen Of Airways

Chicago will remain the world's aviation capital, although Midway airport may never again reach last summer's record of handling 1,200 flights a day, the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry claimed in a transportation summary released Friday.

During 1955, one-fourth of all air travelers flown in the United States passed through, deplaned or originated in Chicago, a total of 8,751,000 persons, which is about one-sixth of the world's total air passenger travel of 47,400,000, the summary said.

Thirteen major air lines serve it, 11 with overseas service.

O'HARE FIELD, which opened late last year, is the reason Midway will not exceed its record.

O'Hare is 10 times the size of Midway, covering 10 square miles, and its future terminal building alone will be as big as Midway.

"It is hoped that Midway's daily scheduled flights can be cut from an overage of 900 to not over 800, with another 800 being handed at O'Hare by early 1957," the statement said. "Aviation experts believe that these 2 airports combined will handle about 14.5 million passengers a year by 1960 and 22 million by 1970."

A HELICOPTER passenger service, soon be to inaugurated, will connect the city's loop with O'Hare, Midway, and Meigs field on the lakefront, and eventually with 35 suburban communities, the association said.

Because the "great circle routes" are shorter, Chicago will be the first stop on many overseas flights. Direct to Tokyo from Chicago over Alaska is 6,673 miles, but by San Francisco it is 8,530 miles. London is 4,038 miles by the circle route, but 4,174 by way of New York.

Q. What difference is there between the wording of a church wedding invitation and a house wedding invitation?

A. The only difference is that in the house wedding invitation a house address takes the place of the name of the church, and "R.s.v.p." is usually added.

Q. Should a girl ever send a gift to the man whom she has been "dating," and whom she especially likes?

A. Not unless she is engaged to the man, and even then the only gifts necessary are at Christmas and on his birthday.

Q. What is the fee a woman is supposed to give the maid who helps her in a public dressing or powder room?

A. Not less than twenty-five cents.

Q. When serving coffee to guests, how should the spoons be distributed?

A. Place the spoons in the saucers on which the cups are served.

THESE TRAINED ELEPHANTS will appear July 8 and 9 at the circus to be presented at Rhodes Inc. appliance center on Northwest hwy. between Palatine and Arlington Heights.

Physician Explaines Polio Vaccine Status Locally

There have been so many conflicting reports regarding the status of the administration of polio vaccine that Paddock Publications has interviewed a local physician.

Some of the conflicting stories may be due to early press releases that are in conflict with the actual conditions.

PHYSICIANS are able to requisition a sufficient supply of vaccine for the administration of the third shot to all children who received the first two shots before December 1.

Children who received their first and second shots after December 1 must wait a full 7 months for their third shot. However, those who have received the 2 shots have a degree of immunity for the present polio season.

Physicians can now get vaccine to administer the first 2 shots to those adolescents and pregnant women who have not been previously immunized.

It is regrettable that there is a tendency on the part of some parents whose children appear extremely healthy, to neglect to follow through on their 3rd treatment.

THE VACCINE is now produced in such quantities that doctors will soon be able to obtain it commercially at local drug stores. With such available supply, no family with adolescents up to 20 years need go without polio vaccine treatment. Soon adults can also be treated.

The school program, under which the initial shots were administered last December, is ended. Future preventive measures rest with the parents.

They are advised, however, to get in touch with their family physician by phone before calling at his office. An unannounced office call is not the right procedure.

As physicians obtain the vaccine through commercial channels, their fees will necessarily be increased.

The interview ended with this statement by the physician, "It is up to the parents to take advantage of this perfectly safe method to wipe out one of the most dangerous diseases." (A

Eight Northwest Area Scouts Attend Conference

Five young men and 3 adult scouters represented the Northwest Suburban council of the Boy Scouts of America at the region 7 Explorer "Citizens Now" conference held last week, on the campus of the University of Illinois at Urbana.

They were among 450 Explorers and leaders who represented the 50,000 Explorer Scouts of the four-state area of Region 7 of the Boy Scouts of America: Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan.

The local delegation was composed of Explorers Thomas W. Boerger of Park Ridge, Richard Mendels of Morton Grove, Terry Cobry of Des Plaines, James Traver of Arlington Heights, and David Stroh of Barrington, with adult leaders Richard H. Zorn of Park Ridge, S. P. Dykstra of Palatine, and John Fanning, council executive Staff member.

THE CONFERENCE had a two-fold purpose: it proposed to bring to each Explorer attending the conference a better understanding of his privileges and responsibilities as a citizen now in his home and in his community, and second, to prepare each council delegation to conduct a similar conference in its own area. Such a conference will be conducted by the Explorers of the Northwest Suburban Council during the coming school year, at a date and place to be announced.

The Explorer delegation from the Northwest Suburban council served on the steering committee of the Champaign conference as the ceremonies and activities committee, planning and conducting both the opening and closing ceremonies for the conference, and overseeing the other social activities such as the dance Friday evening, the tour of the campus and group singing. The delegation, under the co-chairmanship of Tom Boerger and Richard H. Zorn, received the recognition and praise of the entire conference for an outstanding job.

Hoover Report Spotlights Defense, Aid Agencies

(This is the second in a series of articles prepared by the Hoover Report division of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois covering the findings and recommendations of the second Hoover Commission on the operations of the executive branch of the federal government.)

Uncle Sam's major job is to keep America strong, and free from domination by threatening political idealogies.

Because of this, the defense department, the amount of military and financial assistance to foreign nations, our intelligence activities, and the research and development programs undertaken by the federal government take the lion's share of every tax dollar.

The defense department, for instance, gets a whopping big $35 billion annually — about 61 cents out of every tax dollar—to support the 3 armed services and the vast administrative set-up required to affect liaison and united action.

OVERSEAS ECONOMIC operations have resulted in expenditures of more than $46.8 billion on military and economic aid to American countries for the short period from the end of World War II to June, 1954.

Guided missile projects, atomic studies, and hundreds of other vital military and medical research and development projects cost taxpayers about $2.4 billion a year. Of this, a little over $2 billion will be expended by the department of defense.

In the intelligence field, the expenditure figures are classified information. However, at least 12 major departments and agencies are engaged in intelligence, with 10 or more other agencies or activities expending public funds directly or indirectly in behalf of the government's intelligence program.

BUT, THE HOOVER Commission has discovered, the activities are bogged down by conflicting authority, lack of bookkeeping, and wasted effort which clips the taxpayers for billions each year.

The mammoth defense department, with its 3 million service personnel and 1,180,000 civilian employees, is encumbered by traditions which result in lack of coordination between the civilian and military. Coordinated purchasing, cross-servicing, and integration of supply systems for the three services has run into inertia or strong resistance from the military departments.

In the overseas economic operations field, Hoover Commission task force personnel found that 34 agencies are directly or indirectly engaged in, or related to, foreign aid. Many of them are trampling on each other's toes, spreading conflicting statements, and providing foreign governments the opportunity to pit one against the other.

ALSO, IT WAS learned, Uncle Sam is supporting grandiose schemes for setting up major manufacturing centers in backward areas not yet ready for such advances, while, on the other extreme, the 14 NATO countries, well-advanced technologically, are getting technical assistance almost at the kindergarten level.

The tremendous governmental research programs are being hindered by a military tendency toward conservatism which results in failure to be sufficiently daring and imaginative in their approach to radically new weapons and systems. Also found was the ever-present problem of overlapping functions and research, with its attendant useless waste to the taxpayer.

Intelligence activities, Hoover Committee spokesmen reported, are failing to get "adequate intelligence data from behind the Iron Curtain."

"The glamour and excitement of some angles of our intelligence effort must not be permitted to overshadow other vital phases of the work, or to cause neglect of primary functions," the committee said.

RECOMMENDATIONS of the Hoover commission would:

Strengthen civilian control of the defense department, and establish greater liaison between the services and civilian leaders.

Lop off overlapping functions and useless activities.

Strengthen the secretary of State's powers in regard to control of overseas economic loans.

Establish efficient record systems and budget controls.

Adoption of the recommendations would, commission members feel, save the taxpayer more than $2 billion annually and strengthen America's hand in the event of national emergency.

Sherman Canty Drops GOP Recount Demand

Sherman Canty, Mount Prospect, a primary candidate for state representative from the sixth district, has withdrawn his petition for a recount of all votes cast April 10 for state representative in the district.

J. W. Carroll, with 13,637 votes, held first place. Canty with 12,819 was defeated by Simmons by only 229 votes.

Canty issued the following statement this week:

"A petition for a recount of the votes cast in the Republican primary election April 10, 1956, for the nomination for state representative for the sixth district was filed by me in the Circuit court of Cook county. Judge Harry Fisher entered an order for a recount of the ballots and voting machines and that the precincts be recounted in the order selected by the petitioner.

"After recounting in a substantial number of precincts, it became evident that if a complete recount was made the effect of routine errors uncovered would not change the result of the election as proclaimed by the county canvassing board. The recount was stopped and the petition was dismissed at my request. I have sent letters of congratulation to the Republican nominees, John W. Carroll of Park Ridge and Arthur E. Simmons of Skokie and offered to help promote their candidacies.

"POLITICAL workers and the public in general are interested in seeing the final results which appear below.

"I wish to thank all those who promoted my candidacy through work, contributions and votes. I also wish to thank Paddock Publications, Inc., for the kind treatment they gave me at all times in my efforts to secure one of the representative positions for the Northwest Country Towns area."

Complete Republican primary returns for state representative in the sixth district, April 10, 1956 were as follows:

PEOPLE WISE MARTINIZE

The interest in this lil' ol' cotton pickin' column has surprised me no end, and all of us at Dunton Court Cleaners are pleased with the response We know we have the method for cleaning clothes, it's just that we want all of you to get acquainted with the marvelous MARTINIZING process.

It has been my earnest desire to staff my small organization with pleasant, capable people; people you'll like doing business with and people who will serve you well.

Next week I am going to introduce you to our new manager, Pete Weingart, a young man whom we are proud to have with our organization. Although Pete is a young man, he has spent several years in the cleaning business but wasn't really happy until he became connected with the MARTINIZING process. Incidentally, Pete is one of the best men in the country on the MARTINIZING method.

I told you I'd let Pete speak for himself next week, so I'll quit while I'm ahead. If you have any cleaning problems, feel free to call us. Ask for Pete, and he'll be happy to advise you.

Northwest Suburbs Dry Despite Water Abundance Of Nearby Lake

(Information contained in a report on the feasibility of a proposal to bring Lake Michigan water to the northwest suburbs has heretofore not been published in Paddock Publications. This was at the request of the engineering firm which drew up the report. Because a Des Plaines newspaper has begun to print the report, Paddock Publications feels justified in revealing its contents.)

The northwest suburbs have the world's greatest supply of fresh water at their doorstep.

Yet for one reason for another, virtually every town from Park Ridge to Palatine (forgetting other suburban areas) has experienced acute water shortages during recent summers.

Part of the reason lies in the inability to construct storage and distribution facilities to keep pace with the area's phenomenal population growth. But part of the shortages are caused by the fact that the level of the ground water supply, which supplies most of the area towns, is rapidly being lowered.

ON THE SUPPLY of ground water in the area, Consoer, Townsend and Associates, an engineering firm, has this to say:

It is a known fact that the water levels in many well fields are presently being lowered at an alarming rate. A great number of communities, therefore, are being confronted with a slowly diminishing supply of well water, or the probability of an early shrinkage in available water supply . . . many communities have drilled new wells only to find the production of their existing wells curtailed to a point where the net gain in water supply was found to be very small . . . the settings of existing deep well turbine pumps have already been lowered to their practical limit of about 550 to 650 feet . . .

Thus the engineers recommend that the suburbs seek a "new and dependable" source of water in the inexhaustible supply offered by Lake Michigan. They suggest that a Northwest Suburban Water commission be formed to bring lake water to the area by 1960.

Basic to the proposal are Consoer's prediction that population in the strip from Park Ridge to Palatine, also including Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines, will soar from 86,000 in 1955 to 318,000 by the year 2000. Also taken into account is a 1952 report of the President's Material Policy commission forcasting an average increase in per capita water consumption of six-tenths of a gallon per person per year.

HERE ARE the predicted sizes of the 6 communities:

Park Ridge
1955	1975	2000
25,000	43,000	58,500
Des Plaines
23,700	46,200	84,900
Mount Prospect
9,500	21,600	45,800
Arlington Heights
16,400	37,300	85,200
Rolling Meadows
5,000	10,000	19,100
Palatine
6,300	11,900	24,500

Average daily consumption of water in the 5 communities in the year ending in July, 1955 was 9 million gallons a day and 14.4 million gallons during a day of maximum consumption. Corresponding figures will rise to 11 million and 18 million gallons by 1960, 22.36 millions and 38.57 millions by 1980 and 39.28 millions and 71.69 millions by 2000.

These figures do not include water needed for fire protection. The report states that existing wells could supply water for this purpose, in order to "allow the communities to fully utilize their existing facilities and materially reduce initial construction costs . . ."

THE PLAN provides for distributing filtered water to the communities, an idea likely to appeal to many persons now paying for water softeners.

The submerged water intake would be near the Lake-Cook county line. From there a 54-inch pipe line would run, probably along the County Line road right of way, to the proposed water filtration plant site in Des Plaines. Raw water facilities should be designed for a 40-year period, say the experts, to supply the 72 million gallons maximum demand predicted for 2000 A.D.

Filtration facilities would be designed for only 25 years. Consoer recommends purchase and enlargement of Des Plaines' existing filter works.

FROM THE Des Plaines plant, pipelines would extend northwest and southwest, slimming down as they pass through each town. There would be local control over local distribution.

What's it all going to cost?

Here is the estimated price tag:

Water supply facilities	$4,025,000
Filtration plant	5,000,000
Transmission pipelines	1,482,000
Contigency fund	522,400
Engineering and supervision	660,000
Financing charges	60,000
2 years' interest during construction	880,000
Total Project Cost	$12,630,000

A revenue bond issue for the entire amount would be retired over 40 years.

IN 1960, when the first Lake water would gush out of suburban taps, the gross cost per 1,000 gallons is figured at 21 cents, the net cost at 18 cents. In 40 years the gross would drop to 17 cents and net to 14 cents.

The engineers admit that most or all of the suburbs could purchase water from Chicago but they claim that their plan would give lower rates than Chicago's and also mean that the suburbs would own and control the facilities.

Since the report was issued in February of this year, this is what has happened:

Palatine and Arlington Heights flatly rejected Chicago's offer to sell them water and then sniffed at but also turned down a bid from Lombard, Villa Park and Elmhurst to join in their lake water project.

Palatine, original and most fervent supporter of a northwest lake water commission, indicated officially it would join. Arlington and Mount Prospect also gave it their stamp of approval. Rolling Meadows is uncommitted.

HOLDING BACK are Park Ridge, which now has Chicago water, and Des Plaines, supplied by wells. The other towns had already endorsed it by the time they began to seriously discuss the proposal about 2 months back. The mayor of Des Plaines announced for it and reportedly there is growing sentiment in favor of it. One of the reasons of the dalliance may be that the public up to now didn't know what it was all about and hence there was no potent public opinion pushing the project to the fore.

WITHOUT PARK RIDGE and Des Plaines included, the project would be prohibitively expensive for the other towns.

And unless Des Plaines and Park Ridge hustle a bit about making up their minds, the completion date will have to be pushed beyond 1960.

Arlington Builders Aim For Another Record Year

Arlington Heights appears headed toward its second biggest home-building year on record.

A compliation of residential construction figures for the first 6 months of 1956 shows a total of 283 single family home permits issued. If construction continues as strong during the second half of the year, 566 homes will be built.

THIS NUMBER would be exceeded only by the 641 homes built in the village in 1954. Other recent yearly totals are: 1955, 529; 1953, 441; 1952, 362, and 1951, 330.

Since 1946, the village has added 3,828 homes.

June building figures released by Building Commissioner Fred Hammer Jr. show a total permit valuation of $1,216,205. Largest chunk was $274,450 for the south side park swimming pool and bathhouse, for which a portion of the usual permit fees were waived.

FORTY HOME permits were issued during the month, the same number as for May. They were valued at $829,250. Other categories were: 17 garages, $18,500; residential additions, $18,905; store and apartment building adjoining Sylvia's lounge, Northwest hwy., $30,000; addition to Bowen hardware, $28,000; addition to confectionery, 17 S. Evergreen, $7,000, and remodeling of bakery front, 15 W. Campbell, $4,100.

Arlington Boy Wins First Place At Music Convention

Lin Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Smith, W. Algonquin rd., of Arlington Heights returned last Friday with a group of 35 students and parents from the American Guild of Music Convention held at Cincinnati, Ohio. His trip was noteworthy because his solo performance on the Eharp, a 10 string Hawaiian guitar, earned him first place in the student artist Hawaiian guitar solo division, the highest award it is possible to win in the Guild.

The American Guild consists of students and teachers from all over the U. S. and Canada who get together at this annual convention in contests to select the best performers. Attendance this year was one of the highest in the guild's history, and besides guitarists, accordionists, banjoists, and mandolinists included a flute quartete from Hamilton, Ontario, Canada. Contest classifications ranged from elementary solos on all the instruments to near professional status.

In addition to Smith's first place, Elmer Herrick and Ray Gaitsch, owners of the El Rey Music center, Arlington Heights, announce the following winners: first place in the advanced Hawaiian guitar solo division; first place in the junior mixed instrument ensemble division, with two Eharps and an accordion; first place in the junior ensemble guitar division; third place in the junior accordion band division; and an honorable mention tie equivalent to fourth place in the elementary Hawaiian guitar solo division which was won by 2 girls, 7 and 9 years old. Trophies are on display in the studio windows.

Fresh Weekend Dawn Breaks Softly In The Suburb--Well, Doesn't It?

by ROBERT W. WELLS

When the weekend dawn breaks in suburbia — softy so as not to disturb the residents who have moved there—all in tranquility.

Safely in their Hollywood beds beneath their mortgaged roofs, the inhabitants dream away the start of another Saturday, secure in the certainty that they have escaped the annoyances that beset their city cousins.

No street car squeals around a corner or flaps its flat wheels into the distance.

No raucous joyseekers, noisy after a night spent waiting for the neons to wink out, sing off key ballads of unrequited love under the dimming street lights.

All is silence.

Well, almost silence.

There is a faint stirring, like the swarming of distant bees, from 3 blocks away where a sturdy suburbanite has leaped from his bed and hurried breakfastless to his yard to test his new power mower. It is a double cog wheeled, 3-forward speed, hydraulic-shift model, its decibel count guaranteed to be almost below the threshold of pain, and its owner is proud of it. Only a churl could object to its rising whine. After all, it's nearly 6 a.m. and time to be a-stirring.

The machine's challenge does not go unaswered.

FROM 2 BLOCKS AWAY, from across the street — from every yard in suburbia, in fact — its mates soon send forth their throaty replies. The frantic hum of the electric models tied by their coiling cords to the houses of their owners. The deep, erratic coughs, like those of a buffalo bull with the croup, of the gasoline models.

The suburban symphony has begun once again and it will not end until every blade of grass from Bide-A-Wee lane to Sweet William avenue has been massaged and massacred by the forces of mechanized order.

It should not be supposed, however, that a suburbanite's entire weekend is spent chained to the handlebars of his mowing machine. A spot survey indicates that a mere 91.3 per cent of the average ranch house rancher's time is spent in this manner. After all, the idea of buying the retreat in the first' place was to give man an opportunity to develop his leisure, to commune with his soul and wash it clean of the city's rush and ruin.

But before the subject of the suburban mowing is abandoned, it should be pointed out that in the last few years a caste system has grow up, based on the kind of equipment a householder brings to his weekend wars with nature.

THE UNTOUCHABLES at the bottom of the scale are those who must make do with a hand mower. Such a suburbanite may have the largest picture window, the biggest car and the kind of a wife who looks human even in a pair of blue jeans. No matter. He is a pariah. He is, in fact, only a slight step above the fellow who doesn't bother to mow his law at all but sits on his patio, checks unshaven, a bottle of lager in each hand, waiting with a patience not shared by his neighbors for the first frost.

Occupying a middle position between these refugees from a Ma Kettle movie and the elite are the owners of the mill power mowers.

There are graduations here, too, of course, depending on the horsepower and the number of blocks away a machine can be heard. In general the noisier the machine the greater its prestige value. A fellow who can make life miserable for neighbors 2 blocks away is able to hold his head fairly high. But the man whose mower can rattle dishes on the shelves of houses beyond the horizon can borrow money at any bank in town, no questions asked.

Perched at the topmost pinnacle of the suburban social hierarchy are the residents who somehow acquired a mower with 4 wheels and a tractor seat.

Gone are the days when they walked back and forth behind ordinary power mowers. Now they ride, and life in suburbia holds no greater reward. Only a 250-pound man in a size 32 pair of Berumda shorts occupies a position of comparable prominence out where the tri-levels bloom.

TO A TRUE suburbanite, the full-throated roar of a 3-horsepower motor is as sweet as a Bartok concerto.

But the suburban weekend symphony is not made up entirely of such gaseous outpourings. The family that has packed up its belongings, mortgaged its future and trekked to the suburbs to get away from urban rattle and roll soon discovers that life there included a few things not mentioned in the real estate brochures.

Take the typical case of John H. Myopic, who is 33.8 years old, has 1 wife, 7.9 children, a 23-year mortgage, 1 and a half cars, and lives at Bedlam avenue.

If he stood in his peony bed of a weekend morning and threw a handful of rocks to the 4 winds he would hit exactly 11 other ranch houses, each with a $35 table lamp in front of its picture window.

In 8 of these 11 households, the power mowers are going full blast.

In the other 3 houses, these things are happening:

CHARLES O'PSHAW, a jolly sort, is contemplating the scene. At his offspring's sandbox, Charles Jr., has just manifested a bit of precociousness by putting the slug on his older sister, Heliotrope, with a number 4 iron filched from a closet.

Heliotrope is screaming — she always was something of a spoil sport, that girl — and Charles Jr. is shouting, while from the spacemaster kitchen, with its built-in maid service and save-a-step automatic dishwashing and martini mixing unit, Mrs. O'Pshaw is crying out to her husband that she simply can't stand it another moment. The dog, a cross between a mastiff and a Chihuahua, is barking shrilly. O'Pshaw smiles at this evidence that it's Saturday and all's right with his world.

Three Finger Smith, the demon do-it-yourselfer, is busily constructing a bookcase of knotty pine laced with Formica. His saw, which can cut sideways, backwards and in small, concentric circles, is whining angrily, now and then raising its voice to a soprano shriek.

John H. Myopic, standing there with that handful of rocks in his peony bed, compares the sound with the scrape of a fingernail across a blackboard and waits for the inevitable roar of pain that comes, generally around 10:23 a.m., when Three Finger — who was known as Four Finger when he began that bookcase — zigs just as the saw zags.

IN THE 11th HOUSE on Bedlam avenue, occupied by L. Casimir Throwback and 5 or 6 little Throwbacks, heresy has raised its head.

Casimir has no lawn to mow—in the summer of 1953 he dug it up, paved it with concrete and painted it green. No hi-fi set blares. No television antenna sprouts from the roof. No tanks of weed killer stand in the 1-car garage.

Mrs. Throwback is pleasant enough to the neighbors, but she seldom joins the midmorning, midafternoon and midevening coffee parties on the patios. In fact, poor woman, she has no patio. Why, she doesn't even have a barbecue pit and when she wants to burn a steak she does it behind closed doors.

But as far as the rest of the houses are concerned, life on a weekend in this typical suburb goes on merrily, the decibel count increasing in direct ration to the number of power mowers, power saws, power children and all of the other increasing incidentals of life in such a rural retreat.

John H. Myopic, standing there amid the peonies, can be excused a small sigh of pride at being foresighted enough to escape from the hectic thrum of the city and into this haven of peace and tranquality.

AFTER ALL, as the agent pointed out when John signed his tell of the loyal and devoted service by the entire staff of the civil defense organization in Arlington Heights and of their uncomplaining willingness to give of their time for the success of this program.

As civil defense workers, we cannot be concerned whether part of the public does not believe in, or is against the civil defense program, in view of the expressions of the president and the mandate of Congress which established a federal civil defense program. We are to try to save as many lives as we possibly can in the event of an emergency or catastrophe, whether it be due to hurricanes, tornadoes, cyclones, floods, air or train disasters, or an H-bomb attack by an enemy. We welcome constructive criticism for the betterment of this program but untrue or malicious attack of this service project cannot go unanswered.

"It may be of further interest to the village board and to the community to know the cost of establishing the civil defense program in Arlington Heights, a program which has been accredited, is now in good standing, and has received the commendation of the director of civil defense for Cook county, Illinois. Although the village board has appropriated a substantial sum of money to be used for civil defense as needed, the program to date has been set up on a sound and operating basis at a total expenditure of not more than $20."

What Civil Defense Means In Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights Civil Defense is now 2 years old. Mrs. Peters, civil defense director presented to the village board last week a report of its accomplishments. Here they are:

1. The village board caused an ordinance to be adopted making civil defense a part of the village plans.

2. As a result of this adoption and passage, the village of Arlington Heights became an accredited part of the civil defense program of the federal government, and is such in good standing at the present time.

3. By virtue of its having been accredited, the village is entitled to matching federal funds for expenditures authorized under the civil defense program. This would also give to the police and fire departments the right to matchin gfunds for any civil defense equipment or supplies purchased.

4. The village board caused certain funds to be appropriated and made available for use in the civil defense program as required.

5. A mutual aid agreement has been signed by the village which would require aid to be furnished to the village in the event of some catastrophe.

6. The Arlington Heights Nurses club, a group of approximately 113 graduate nurses residing in Arlington Heights and its immediate vicinity, has been organized so as to be available upon imemergency.

10. The nucleus of a Ground Observer corps has been organized to be put into effect when required.

11. Arrangements are being made for a ground observer post to be established in the north part of Arlington Heights, in co-operation with the United Sattes air force.

12. Plans have been completed for the use of the public library building as an emergency center in the event of a catastrophe, which will include the setting up of a 10-bed hospital unit, the use of all of the supplies of the Nurse's Club Lending Closet, including fracture beds, basins, hypodermics, dressings, medical supplies, etc.

The following key personnel has been appointed, informed and trained in their duties:

Co-director of Civil Defense, Mrs. Jack Keller.

Chief wardens, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Dueball.

Public health officer, Mrs. Charles Bloecker.

Public health director Mrs. George Reinhardt.

THESE ACCOMPLISHMENTS only briefly touch upon the civil defense program in Arlington Heights as it presently exists. They cannot begiin to tell of the many, many hours that were spent into putting this program into being, the numerous conferences that were held in organizing this program, the numerous trips taken to the Cook county civil defense headquarters and to joint civil defense meetings with other communities. Often Misused

Distinguish between "consistently" (in a manner that is not contradictory) and "constantly" (regularly; steadily; persistently). Thus: "If you tell others what to do, you must act consistently with your own statements." "He constantly (but not always consistently) warned against over-eating."

"Phone," the shortened form of "telephone," is acceptable in informed usage, and may be used as a noun or verb.

Do not say, "Between each row of bushes was a gravel walk." Say, "Between EVERY TWO rows of bushes was a gravel walk."

The word "regular," in the sense of "real" or "true," is colloquial. Say, "He was a REAL or TRUE (not regular) pioneer."

Do not say, "He reopened the matter again." Omit "again."

"Repel" and "repulse" are in most respects interchangeable, with "repulse" being the more forceful word.

Often Mispronounced

Bon vivant (lover of good living). Pronounced boen-vee-vahn, principal accent on last syllable.

Archive. Pronounce ahr-kive, accent on first syllable.

Cacophony (unpleasant sound). Pronounce ka-koff-oe-ni, accent on second syllable.

Hostage. Pronounce hoss-tij, accent on first syllable.

Ghoul. Pronounce as "gool."

Caribbean (the sea). The preferred pronounciation of this word places accent on THIRD syllable, no matter how many returned tourists and radio announcers accent some other syllable.

Arlington Motorist Won't Try To Stop Fights Again

An Arlington Heights man who stepped in to break up a fight between 2 motorists probably won't try it again.

J. B. McMurry, 1415 W. Euclid st., noticed 2 cars stopped for a stop sign at Wilke rd.

McMURRY saw one man get out of his car, a brown Pontiac, go over to the other car and reaching through the window, grab the head of the driver and bang it against the inside of the car door.

McMurry and a neighbor hurried to intervene and prevent bloodshed. The man who was out of his car hit McMurry and cursed him, jumped back into the car and sped off. So did the man he had hit.

The Euclid ave. peacemakers decided to leave it at that and not file a complaint.

ALSO REPORTED by police during the past week was a burglary at Heller Lumber Co., 24 N. Hickory ave. Stolen by persons who entered by breaking a window and reaching through to open a door were 12 door thresholds. The loss was discovered Saturday morning.

Friends and members of the church are invited to attend the event which is being planned by Mrs. Jules Boeckh, hospitality chairman. A string ensemble, arranged by Mrs. George Wilson, will furnish background music.

Tells Incorporation Plans For New Village In Elk Grove Twp.

Attorney Frank M. Opeka this week outlined the reasons for a move to incorporate a village on 750 acres of farmland in southwestern Elk Grove township.

Opeka is the attorney who 2 weeks ago announced that a special election will be held July 10 in incorporate the village of Elk Grove.

Opeka said that the village will be the site of a large housing development and that the developer wished to incorporate so that there would be "orderly control" of zoning and building matters. The move will enable the developer and present residents of the area to fight a proposal by a power company to stretch a high tension line across the area.

THE NAME of the firm which will develop the village has not been disclosed but a Des Plaines real estate operator, Charles A. Hodlmair, is acting as its broker and trustee.

Opeka revealed that most of the 750 acres to be incorporated have been acquired under purchase or options by the Hodlmair interests. The planned village extends south from Higgins rd. to a line 300 feet north of Devon rd. and roughly from Arlington Heights rd. on the west to Tonne rd. on the east.

HOWEVER, a subdivision of 140 lots sold to prospective home builders by the Branigar Organization, is not in the proposed village. Exclusion removes a 50-acre chunk from the east side of the rectangular village. The excluded area is on the south side of Landmeier rd., west of Tonne rd.

Between Oakton st. and Cosman rd., the village boundary will be west of Arlington Heights rd.; from Cosman rd. south the line runs about 600 feet east of this road. Other small portions left out of the village include a tavern at Higgins and Arlington Heights rds. and a piece of land at Oakton st. and Tonne rd.

HODLMAIR said that 116 persons live in the area and that 50 signed a petition for a special election, to be held at the town hall, which is within the proposed village. Opeka said that most of the 116 would remain in the area even after it is subdivided.

There is "nothing definite" yet on building plans, according to Hodlmair, but he hopes development will start this fall.

Maximum acreage allowable for incorporation of a village is 1,280 acres or 2 square miles and an area cannot be incorporated within 1 mile of an existing village. Opeka said that Elk Grove's nearest neighbors would be Chicago, with O'Hare field only 2 miles distant, Mt. Prospect, also 2 miles, and Wood Dale and Itasca, both within 1½ miles.

INCORPORATION was a surprise to residents of other sections of the township, many of whom had just begun to consider incorporation of a city centering around the crossroads community at Elmhurst and Higgins rds.

In fact, incorporation was one of the chief aims for the organization of the School District 59 Men's association late in May. What course this group will now take was presumably to be discussed at a Wednesday night meeting. With no local government except the township and school district, the area found it was unable to protect itself from the encroachment of industry and a multitude of problems brought by trailer camps, expressways and home builders.

Where Else?

About nine-tenths of the world's atmosphere lies within 10 miles of the earth's surface.

Here Are More Favorites For Flavor For The Summer

Today we are featuring a Cheese Snack Bread which will give zest to a fruit salad luncheon, a casserole supper, or a late evening snack. It is a favorite of Mrs. Gerald C. Beckman.

Made from a yeast dough, it has a cheese and onion topping. Caraway or poppy seeds may also be sprinkled over the top, if desired.

While baking, the cheese melts into the bread. It is best served warm right after it is baked, and is mighty delicious to eat!

Another favorite recipe of Mrs. Beckman's is a Pumpkin Chiffon Pie. Although rich,

Whipped cream as well as beaten egg whites are folded into a delicately-spiced pumpkin custard. It is poured into a baked pie shell and topped with additional whipped cream and crushed walnuts.

This pie is also elegant served as a bridge dessert.

The Beckmans live at 630 S. Dryden in Arlington Heights. They have 3 children: John, 14, Marilyn, 5, and Eileen, 4.

The whole family is active in Little League activities as their son is a member of the Pony League, Mr. Beckman is manager of a team, and Mrs. Beckman is a past-president of the Women's Auxiliary.

ARNOLD FREISE, LILLIAN PREST and HAROLD PROEBSTLE have had over 25 years' experience between them with MAYFAIR RUG CLEANERS. That's why they, like all the other people associated with MAYFAIR, really know their business . . . Say, here's an idea! Why not have MAYFAIR pick up your rugs for cleaning before you leave on your vacation? After the rugs are cleaned, they'll store them for you without charge until you return home. There's also no extra charge made when MAYFAIR RUG CLEANERS call for and deliver your rugs. To get a free cleaning estimate call CLearbrook 3-2205. You Palatine folks may call Enterprise 1221.

ROLLIE FRANZEN, VP of the ARLINGTON HEIGHTS NATIONAL BANK, is the third generation of FRANZENS in the banking business. His father, ART FRANZEN, is president of the bank. Grandfather, H. H. FRANZEN, who at 88 still serves on the board of directors of the ARLINGTON HEIGHTS NATIONAL BANK, started his career as a banker in Bensenville in 1903. Incidentally, the late HENRY FRANZEN, ROLLIE'S great-grandfather, settled in Bensenville as far back as 1832 . . . Heard there is a splendid opportunity for several bright young men and women interested in a career at the ARLINGTON HEIGHTS NATIONAL BANK. This is definitely worth looking into!

RAY CHMELIK, head man of the CULLIGAN WATER CONDITIONING organization in Mt. Prospect, and sales engineers GLEN GROGAN and PAUL KOLB have all attended the Soft Water Institute in Northbrook and "meritoriously earned" a certificate in recognition of their "skills and techniques in the field of water conditioning." These men really know every facet of water conditioning and, after they make a residential, commercial or industrial installation, CULLIGAN'S factory-trained service men step in and take over the maintenance of equipment. CULLIGAN'S service dept. is headed by ELMER SCHMIDT and assistants, DICK STIER and HERB SCHMIDT.

BILL SIEGEL of ARLINGTON HOUSE Restaurant is determined to make his establishment the finest and most comfortable eating place in the Northwest suburbs. Within the past week work was completed on the restaurant's new central air conditioning system and the sensational Open Hearth for steaks and chops. I don't have to tell you there's nothing to match the taste of steak or chops broiled over true charcoal. And remember, ARLINGTON HOUSE, located on Rand Rd. and Euclid just outside of Arlington Heights, serves complete dinners every night, but Monday, until 10.

MYRON "MIKE" BLUM who has been associated with WILLSON & FLORENCE REALTORS for 14 years, was in the real estate business six years prior to that. MIKE, born and raised in Palatine, married the former AGNES MOEHLING who comes from one of the pioneer families of Arlington Heights. They have four boys ranging from three to 14, named BOBBY, GERALD, MARSHALL and ALAN. Of the four, only nine-year-old GERALD has thus far expressed a desire to follow in his dad's footsteps at WILLSON & FLORENCE, MIKE'S hobby is golf and when he's "hot" he has been known to shoot in the 80's.

JERRY SHEAHEN of the LORRAINE-ANNE SHOP says the selection of women and children's summer wear is still at its peak. Some of the items you might be particularly interested in are College Town and Glenora two-piece sportswear, Rose Marie Reid swimsuits, bermuda shorts, pedal pushers and Jerry Gilden cotton dresses as well as sport blouses, shorts and sunsuits for the youngsters. One of the nice features about shopping at LORRAINE-ANNE, besides the friendly salespeople and the wide variety of fine merchandise, is the relaxing music piped through the store and the cool comfort provided by a central air conditioning system.

News Of Prospect Meadows

Meeting for the last time before taking a 2-month vacation, members of the women's auxiliary of the Prospect Meadows Home Owner's association wound up important business and enjoyed an entertaining program.

Final details were worked out for the community fair, July 7 and 8. Booth chairmen gave reports on their committee meetings and asked for volunteers to help in their booths. Anyone who has not already signed up and can spare a few hours next Saturday or Sunday is urged to get in touch with the booth chairmen or the chairman of the fair, Dollie McGivney. Working to make their booths a success are the following chairmen: fish bowl, Kay Wehrheim; grandmothers, Peggy Orlowski; ham, Virginia Jenkins; refreshment, Elaine Johnson; children ages 1-5, Barbara Sell; children ages 6-12, Nancy Hehnen and Lee Abbinanti; bar, Vic Incinelli; games, Ray Seeber; over and under, Joe Derning and gifts, Vera Valentine and Joan Stevens.

Plans were made to have a publicity committee to handle flyers for special events and devise means to increase attendance at future auxiliary meetings. Volunteering to work on this committee were Pat Riley, Joyce Ruther, Rita Durec and Mary Jane Norris. Offering their services to handle arrangements for the annual Halloween dance were Chris Pelletier, Rita Durec, Pat Riley and Irma Ehlke.

Kay Wilson, acting as Mrs. Daley, entertained members by conducting her version of the popular television game, "What's My Line?" Her guests were Kay Wehrheim, representing Mamie Eisenhower; Ruby Polly, Jim Moran; Joyce Ruther, Mr. Berchmans; Millie Webber, Arthur Godfrey; Ginny Richardson, Lucille Ball; Dollie McGivney, Steve Allen and Pat Wrath, new auxiliary president Kay Sepke. Coming up with correct identifications were Chris Pelletier, Carol Wilkins, Marie Robotkay, Rosemary Vosburgh, Pat Riley and Vi Manda. At the completion of the game the past officers served members finger sandwiches, coffee and tea.

Talent Show

Keeping their program a secret but bustling with activity the talent show committee, Rosemary Finch, Pat Riley, Kay Bischoff, Chris Pelletier, Kay Wilson, Joyce Ruther, Vera Valentine and Kay Sepke met again last Wednesday on Kay's patio to make more plans for their show. The date is August 19, 3 to 5 p.m.; guests are welcome to join Meadowites for an entertaining show, pop corn, soft drinks and dancing.

Baseball School

Thanks to the work of Bert Johnson, Howard Johnson, Bob Blim, John McGivney, Glen Ehlke and Art Sepke and funds from the park board, Meadowites have a baseball diamond to be proud of. The Saturday baseball school has proved very popular with the boys and the instructors are to be congratulated on the wonderful job they are doing. All boys between the ages of 7 to 12 are invited to attend baseball practice every Saturday morning from 10 to 12.

Birthdays

Entertaining playmates at her home last week was Linda Sell, daughter of John and Barbara Sell. The occasion was Linda's fifth birthday and her guests were her sister, Donna, Susan and Sharon Larson, Patty Riley, Marcy Vosburgh, Carol Waldron, Judy Kemppainen, Dolores Schons, Alan Schmidt and Barbara Hampe. Unable to attend because of measles was Freddie Hampe.

The measles also spoiled many plans recently for Valerie Ruther, Sheryl Sepke and Merri Heurlin.

Janice Jenkins, daughter of Dick and Virginia Jenkins, was 9 years old June 26. Celebrating the happy event with Janice at an outdoor luncheon were her sisters, Ricky and Candy, and playmates, Candy Wadle, Marsha Wells, Judy Sodusky, Christine Wehrheim, Dick Moeller, Bruce Blim and Dennis Battaglia.

June 20 was the day Renee Robotkay, daughter of Henry and Marie Robotkay, became 8 years old. Joining her for an afternoon of games and a birthday refreshment treat was her sister, Rose Anne, and playmates, Mary Lee Heinz, Cathy Holleran, Vicky Heurlin and Sharon McNaughton.

Relatives gathered at the home of Wayne and Carol Wilkins Sunday to celebrate their son, Jimmy's, first birthday. Enjoying his birthday cake was his brother, Billy, grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Kuhlmann and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Benson, aunt Miss Mae Benson, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Keller and Mrs. Juanita Timko.

A very enjoyable day at Honey Bear farm on Powers lake last Tuesday was the climax of the past season's grandmothers' club meetings. Members Myrtle Stickrod, Frances Schulz, Helena Woodruff, Janet Nye, Elizabeth Gutzmer, Catherine Coughlin and Edna Vartanian made the trip in 2 cars driven by Elizabeth Gutzmer and Mrs. Woodruff's daughter, Dorothy. Everyone browsed through the shops and dined at the Honey Bear restaurant. Secret pals exchanged gifts and one member presented everyone with a pen and pencil set as a souvenir of the trip.

The fatty club reached the end of its allotted dieting program last week with Arlette Klein, going from 150 to 135 pounds, winning in the over 10 pound group and Kay Bischoff winning in the under 10 pound group. Each girl is to spend the prize money on a new dress. Fatty club members were all pleased with the results of the club's past dieting program and plan to begin another weight-watching session soon.

Card Party

Bob and Marge Blim were hosts at a card party in their home Friday evening. Their guests were Wayne and Carol Wilkins, Ray and Nora Roths and Evans and Lisa Wells.

Gert and Joe Derning and Bud and Fern Holleran enjoyed a pleasant get-together at the home of Henry and Marie Robotkay Saturday evening.

Bob and Arlette Klein entertained Mrs. Violet Richter and Mrs. Selma Krantz with an outdoor barbecue dinner Tuesday evening. Mrs. Krantz, of Lansing, Mich. was a recent house guest of Arlette's mother, Mrs. Richter.

House Guests

Two little girls, Nancy and Carol Metzel of Chicago, enjoyed a week visiting in the Meadows recently. They were the guests of Bob and Rita Chaiser and their sons, Bruce, Jay and Matthew.

Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Crain and their children, Linda and Martin, enjoyed having as their house guests last week, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Batzler and their sons, Jeffrey and Christopher of Baltimore, Md. Since this was the Batzlers first trip to Chicago the 2 couples spent Friday evening visiting the many sights of Chicago's loop.

Vacationing

Arnold and Ruth Middleton and their son, Kenneth, returned last Thursday evening from a 2-week vacation in Georgia and Tennessee visiting Arnold's mother, Mrs. J. A. Middleton and other members of his family.

Vacationing from June 8 to 25 at Daytona Beach, Fla., Puryear, Tenn. and Springfield, Ill., were Bill and Alice Maisel and their daughters, Carol and Joyce. As in the past years, accompanying them on their vacation trip were Mr. and Mrs. George Nation and their children.

Jane Redeen spnt a week recently in Wausau, Wis., at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ploetz. Bud Redeen visited only for a weekend before returning home.

Bob Wehrheim was accompanied by his wife, Kay, on a business trip recently to the west coast. Traveling by plane the couple spent 2 days in Minneapolis, 5 in Spokane, 2 in San Francisco and 5 in Los Angeles. At each stop they visited the main points of interest and keeping a promise to their children, saw Disneyland in California bringing back souveniers from there for all of them.

This weekend marks the end of 2 week's vacation for Ray LeBrun. He and Joyce and their children, Gail, Judy and Ritchie, spent the time taking family outings, visiting relatives and friends and entertaining. Last Wednesday they entertained Ray's family at an outdoor buffet supper in honor of Ray's brother and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd LeBrun and their sons, Kenneth and Lenny of Concord, Cal. The Floyd LeBruns had not been in the Chicago area for 7 years and the following guests gathered at Ray's house to see Floyd and his family: Mr. and Mrs. Charles LeBrun, Mr. and Mrs. William Meiser, Miss Dorothy Meiser, Mr. and Mrs. William Meiser Jr. and daughter, Susan, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Keisgen, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Keisgen and daughter, Georgian, Mr. and Mrs. G. Limbers and son, Chris, Miss Lena Kleinschmidt and Mr. George Kler.

Arlington Jr. Legion Team Falls Into First Place

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by Bob Paddock

THOUSANDS OF FANS who willingly test their judgment against that of the horses for 6 weeks every summer at Arlington Park have oft' been heard to comment on the beauty of the place, the grass, the shrubs, the relaxing atmosphere (providing their horses win.) Few of them appreciate the time, effort and money that goes into the park to provide that beauty, though the horsemen throughout the country know how Clarence Brinkman, superintendent at Arlington Park 27 years, keeps the running surface of the track in top shape.

Clarence Brinkman

Clarence has had the job almost from its inception at Arlington, lives on the track grounds, and keeps an eye on the place all year long. Well-liked Clarence estimates it takes 12,000 man hours of work from September through May keeping the track and grounds in shape. His special track sprinkling equipment was designed by him, and helps keep down the dust for every race. He has 24 employees working with him on the large project, including Lester Dobbins of Arlington Heights, who's now in his 25th year at Arlington.

THE HOLE-IN-ONE CLUB for this area received 2 new members this past week as Bill Poole and Mauri Carter, both of Arlington Heights, made the grade. Mauri made his on the 140-yard No. 4 at Old Orchard, a par 3 hole, Friday, June 29, in company with Oscar Bowen and Lou Bell, the latter of Windsor drive, Arlington Heights.

Poole's feat was the first hole-in-one history on the 235-yard No. 12 at Brookwood country club, one of those "over water, up the hill" deals.

The green was on top of the hill, with Bill hitting into the sun Thursday, June 28. Neither he nor his partners, Bud Rapp, Ray Landmeier or Everett Lindgren, could find the ball for a time as they looked in the traps and elsewhere, until it was suddenly spotted in the cup.

CHUCK ULRICH, Chicago Cardinals starting right tackle on defense, is working his way to the very top of the football heap. At Chicago's Fenger high he was all-city guard in 1946 and an all-state tackle in 1947. At the U. of Illinois, Chuck was an all Big Ten selection in 1950 and an All-American tackle in 1951.

Now in his 3rd season with the Cardinals, the 240 pound Chicagoan is gunning for all-pro, and his coaches think he can make it. Ulrich will be in Arlington Heights for the Cardinal intra-squad game on Thursday, August 9, under lights at the high school field.

WHETHER THE SLUGGERS tire in the stretch, or whether the pitching gets tougher, there's little doubt —after a look at the month-by-month homer records of four great American League batsmen—that connected consistently for four bases is a lot more difficult in August and September than it is in the first three months of the major league campaigns.

Speculation comes easy on the chances of some hitter someday besting Babe Ruth's homer record of 60, set in 1927. In September that year, the Babe busted 17 for a record-making finish. That Ruth's 17 in that final month was an exceptional total, to say the least, is shown by a peek at the performances of Ruth, Jimmy Foxx, Lou Gehrig and Hank Greenberg in a few of their great homer years. Let's take a look at this monthly chart of how those four great sluggers did:

Player	Year	Total	May	June	July	Aug.	Sept.
Ruth	1927	60	12	9	9	9	17
Ruth	1921	59	10	13	10	10	10
Foxx	1932	58	13	12	12	7	10
Greenberg	1938	58	9	10	15	9	12
Ruth	1920	54	12	12	13	7	10
Ruth	1928	54	15	11	11	6	7
Foxx	1938	50	10	12	6	9	12
Gehrig	1934	49	11	8	12	10	7
Gehrig	1936	49	5	12	13	9	7
Ruth	1930	49	13	15	6	8	5
Foxx	1933	48	4	13	9	7	12
Totals		588	114	127	116	91	109

In 1928, when Ruth had 54, he felt the August-September 'drought', getting only 13 those final two months. He had four that year in April. In 1930, the Babe, starting with two in April, had only five in September. Foxx, in 1932 when he hit 58, had four in April and a total of 41 through July, but got only 17 the rest of the way. Gehrig got away to a bad start in 1934, collecting but one round-tripper in 11 April games, but he too felt a September slump of only seven. And in 1936, when he had 49, Lou fell off to nine in August and seven in September.

BASEBALL IS NO. 1 to more than 2,500 Little League boys in this area . . . Paddock Publications staff photographers have started taking pictures of teams throughout the many communities served by these papers, including 69 squads in Arlington and Palatine last Saturday, and are planning 33 more in Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights this coming Saturday . . . That's 102 teams right there, with about 50 more expected from Wheeling, Rolling Meadows, Bensenville, Itasca, Wood Dale and Roselle coming up.

We are running the first few squads this week, will roll along through July and August averaging about 15 per week . . . Hope we don't spell too many names wrong.

For awhile last week major league fans were hoping the White Sox could break their own record string of 14 straight victories until they lost Tuesday night . . . Sox record of 14 straight was set in 1951 . . . Only 3 Pale Hose of that day are still with the Comiskeys, including Billy Pierce, Nellie Fox and Sammie Minoso . . . Then there's the man who suddenly discovered the middle initials of MicKEY MANtle spell Key Man . . .Must be true.

Among national prep track records recognized last week in addition to Jim Bowers' 4:16.1 mile are 6-9 3/4 high jump, 14-3 1/8 pole vault, :46.7 quarter, 1:25.9 880 relay and 63-9½ shot.

Bill Schoof, Iowa cager, is pitching ball for a St. Joe, Mich., semipro team . . . Michigan State punters averaged 41.2 yards per kick last fall, pacing all major college elevens . . . Hugh Daugherty and the Spartan coaching staff are in Germany for a month conducting a series of grid clinics for army personnel . . . One coach asserts success in football as "80% material, 10% coaching, 10% luck" . . . Illini football ticket sales are running 2,000 ahead of last year with Michigan State the favorite, and Wisconsin the "slow one" . . . New Trier's John Magnuson, who looked so good in the Heights regional and sectional last year, will enroll at Northwestern . . . Harry Combes, by the way, asserts Minnesota and Northewestern will be favored in Big 10 basketball.

The major league mark for homers in one full month is 18, a total registered by Rudy York of Detroit in August of 1937. Rudy had one in seven April games, none in May, only three in June and eight in July. Then he got his 18 in August, only to slump to five in September.

Thus, his 18 in August represented more than half of his season total of 35 that year.

Portage Park Tops Fords, 4-1; 1st League Loss

by BOB FRISK

All good things must come to an end and Arlington's Jr. Legion baseball team found this out the hard way Monday in a 4-1 loss to Portage Park.

The loss was the first for Manager Lloyd Meyer's Poole Fords in the ninth district in 9 games and it dropped them into first place deadlock with Portage which also has 1 defeat, a shocker to Park Ridge B over the weekend.

As it stands now, 3 teams rate a definite change for the ninth district crown — Arlington, Portage, and Park Ridge A—but they each have about 5 more league encounters so anything can, and probably will, happen.

NO TEAM can be taken lightly in league play as there is probably as much balance in the district as there has been in a number of campaigns. But it also must be considered that the league doesn't appear to have any team capable of going very far outside the league in the playoff unless an unpected turnabout by some club takes place.

Arlington has as good a pitching staff as any other league team in Bob Miller and Al Smeby with assistance from the inexperienced but capable John Oberg and Denny Thill, but a sustained — or rather, any kind of hitting attack has been lacking.

But then Portage appears to only have 1 good moundsman and only an adequate batting attack. This club is young. Park Ridge A is pretty well set pitching-wise with Tony Scharer and Bob Gruber, but the Mel Tierney Post, runner-up in the state last summer, is a young club with many inexperienced performers. Anyway you look at it, the league championship is a long way from being decided.

ARLINGTON picked up an easy win June 28, at Recreation Park when the Elmwood Park team failed to have a full squad of 9 players. In a practice game between 2 teams made up of both Arlington and Elmwood players, "Arlington" won 5-4 with Dan Vittum and Lee Magnuson both getting 2 hits.

Palatine and Arlington battled down to the wire the following day, June 29, before the Poole Fords walked off with a 9 inning, 6-1 victory. Trailing 1-0 going into the top half of the last inning, the Fords rallied to knot the count when Larry Webber scored on a balk by Palatine's Paul Incapreo.

Four hits, 2 walks, and a hit batsman brought in the deciding 5 counters in the top of the ninth for Heights. Vittum cracked out 3 hits to pace the 7 hit offense. Bob Miller gained the victory.

SATURDAY Winnetka edged the locals, 10-9, with a run in the home half of the ninth inning. Al Smeby walked in Bill Reno with the deciding tally after Al had relieved John Oberg. Smeby started the contest and worked 4 innings on a yield of only 2 runs and 4 hits, then went to right field while Oberg took over. Johnny wasn't hit too hard but Winnetka did erupt for 6 runs in the next 3 frames before the deciding ninth.

Jerry Klement provided some unexpected, but welcome power to the Poole Fords' attack with a single and towering homer in 4 trips to the plate. Klement's 4 base clout was a long smash to center field and Jerry also rapped another tremendous drive to practically the same spot the next time up but the host's Pat Layden pulled in this

THE RED SOX are currently the hottest team in the Arlington Heights Little League and they hold a wide margin over the second place White Sox in the American League.

Red Sox In Good Position To Repeat LL Championship

by BOB FRISK

Arlington's high-flying Red Sox are in a good position right now to repeat their 1955 Little League championship.

With a good part of the championship team back intact for the current campaign, the Red Sox have been breezing past American League competition in hopes of clinching an unprecedented second consecutive crown. Two more victories last week pushed the front-runners well ahead of the second place White Sox who are 3 games down in the important loss column.

THE PONY League Browns picked up a pair of wins in last week's play to move out to a 1½ game lead over the runner-up Hawks, while in the National League loop the Cardinals and Cubs are deadlocked for the division lead.

The initial report of the week ending June 30 found the Orioles dumping the Indians, 9-4, June 25, with Ron Hosek going the route on a yield of 7 hits. Kenny Dougan took the loss for the Indians with the loser's Chuck Rehfeldt rapping out a triple for the only long hit of the game.

Orioles .....321 210—9-10
Indians .....002 020—4- 7

Batteries: Orioles, Hosek (WP) and Sckolski and Pakyz; Indians, Dougan (LP) and Rehfeldt. 3B—Rehfeldt (I).

A 12-4 REDLEG victory over the Hawks, June 26, helped push the Browns into a more commanding league lead. Cliff Scholl worked the 6 inning game for the victors and issued only 5 hits. Hawkins and Brodnan both pounded out home runs.

Hawks .....000 310— 4-5
Redlegs .....104 421—12-7

Batteries: Hawks, Zizlavsky (LP), Inman and Empkie; Redlegs, Scholl (WP) and Hutchinson. HR—Hawkins (H) and Brodnan (RL).

Dave Kussow fashioned a neat 1-hitter for the Browns in setting down the Phillies, 4-0, June 27. Kussow was backed by a 9 hit attack in the 7 inning affair. Jimmy Clabaugh worked for the Phillies and took the loss.

Browns .....020 100 1—4-9
Phillies .....000 000 0—0-1

Batteries: Browns, Kussow (WP) and Schuman; Phillies, Clabaugh (LP), Passmore and O'Hagan.

Worth AC Upsets Redwings, 11--10

Worth AC proved to be the "giant killer" Sunday when they decisioned Arlington's league leading Redwings, 11-10, to give the locals their third loss of the campaign in league play. Worth has been the division's cellar club for a good part of the season.

The Worth fireworks started in the second when two runs crossed the plate on a walk, triple, and a double, then eased off to single counters in the third and fourth before the explosive six run fifth inning. Arlington has a big fifth of its own, tallying six runs, and added a pair of counters in each of the sixth and seventh but it couldn't overcome the host's productive attack.

Arlington's big inning started with a walk to Lloyd Meyer. Dick Bokelmann was safe on a fielder's choice, and then the offensive began. Sprinz doubled, Ebeling walked, Anderson singled, Esposito doubled, Stange walked, Sassi singled, Jankers doubled and finally the Worth hurlers checked the uprising after a total of six runs had crossed the plate.

Merchants Lose, 5-3,

The Merchants of the Mt. Prospect Little League, after gaining possession of first place, stretched their winning streak to six games last Friday by dumping the Country Club, 11-7, then dropped their first game of the year Sunday, 5-3, to the VFW.

After trailing in the first inning 3-0 in the former game the Merchants made a great comeback and went on to win the game. There were four homers in the game for the Merchants with Leekley scoring two of them and Thomas and Virts getting the others.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON Chuck Rateike kept the Merchants down except in the second inning when they scored three runs on Johnson's double. Thomas let up eight hits for the VFW, two of which were triples by Francek and Rateike.

Sox Take Ninth Straight Contest In Mount Prospect

by BETTY KIRCHHOFF

The VFW Sox stretched their winning streak to 9 games this past week by whipping the Braves and Cubs. Everyone's now beginning to wonder who is going to stop this rampaging team that has gone without a defeat in the first half of the season. Wednesday, they were scheduled to open the second half against the Yanks who will need quite a few fireworks to turn them back on their heels.

Saturday, June 30, the Sox blasted the Cubs, 22-6. With the aid of a strong tail-wind, 7 extra base blows were smashed out by the Sox, 4 of those being home runs. Freddy Boedeker, Bob Leekley, and Bill McMillan, winning pitcher, slammed homers in the victors' big 9 run sixth and George Bork came through with the long blow in the fifth.

Sox .....102 469—22-15-2
Cubs .....011 400— 6- 9-4

Batteries: Sox, McMillan (WP), Hahn, Zadel, Henkel; Cubs, Dahlquist (LP), Freitag, Goeltz. 2B—Goeltz (C), Leekley, Bork (S). 3B—Boedeker (S). HR — Boedeker, Leekley, Bork, McMillan (S).

TUESDAY EVENING, June 26, the Sox belted an undermanned Braves' team, 17-1. The victors proved early in the contest that they were out for some extra batting practice by scoring 7 runs in the first inning. Tom Weller, the losing hurler, held them scoreless in the second but then in the third they came up with 6 more tallies to practically sew up the game.

The league leaders added their last 4 in the fifth.

Fritzie Peterson coasted along to his second victory of the season and was never in much trouble after allowing the Braves their only run in the first.

Slugging stars for the evening were Freddy Boedeker with 4 for 4, including a 2-bagger, and George Bork and Bill Zadel with 2 hits for 2 times up.

AN EXTRA highlight of the night was the scoring of the Sox' 100th run of the season by Bill McMillan in the fifth round.

Free tickets to Riverview Park, July 14, are still available at the local stores. The Riverview Park management counts the tickets handed in that day and pays the Mothers Auxiliary Baseball for Boys of Mt. Prospect. So come out and join in the fun and at the same time, help the baseball program of our town.

Little League and Pony League games scheduled for that day will be postponed until a later date. The Little League contest will be moved up to Sunday, July 22, and no definite date has been set for the Pony League.

Tigers, Giants Top P H Baseball

The Tigers moved out to a game and a half lead in the Prospect Heights Little League with an even split in their 2 most recent contests. A tight battle for the runner-up slot is being waged between the Cubs, Braves, and Cards with the Yankees 4½ games off the pace. The Sox' record is still unreported.

Two clubs went over the 10 run mark for a single ball game in the latest results. The Cards, currently sporting a 5-5 mark, edged the Braves in a free-scoring affair, June 25, 13-12, and the Tigers slapped down the lowly Yanks, 11-6, June 27.

In the Prospect Heights Pony League the Giants are holding a game and a half lead with the Indians settled in second place. The contest between these 2 front-runners went to the Giants, 4-2, June 25. The Senators knocked off the Dodgers, 14-0, and Indians, 10-3, in their attempts to move out of the league cellar.

Cubs Top Yanks In Mt. Prospect Pony League

by BILL GODMAN

The Cubs defeated the Yanks, 13-4, in a Mt. Prospect Pony League game featured by good hitting and sloppy fielding. The game was called at the end of the sixth inning because of darkness.

The Yanks, who gave their poorest performance of the season, committed eight errors and their pitchers issued eight walks. Seven of the free passes were off losing pitcher Mark Thorne. Doing the twirling for the Cubs was Chuck Phelan. For the most part, Phelan's control was razor-sharp. He issued only one walk and seldom was behind the Yankee batters.

The third inning was the big inning for both teams. The Yanks got three runs while their opponents tallied six times. The game's only homer was hit by Keith Grams of the Cubs.

One bright spot in the games as far as the Yanks were concerned was the fine relief pitching turned in by Wayne Stewart. In his first mound appearance of the season, he gave up only one unearned run in the three innings of work.

Brinkman Serves As Track Superintendent 27 Years

by BOB FRISK

For 27 years the name of Clarence J. Brinkman has been synonymous with track maintenance at beautiful Arlington Park.

The personable track superintendent who lives at the track is as much a part of the Arington program as any other person connected in any capacity with the operation of the "city within a city." He has seen the track grow into a magnificent summer attraction where countless numbers of racing enthusiasts flock during the 36 day racing period. He has witnessed the track renovation so successfully carried on by Benjamin Lindheimer in the latter's years as executive director and has also made his own important contributions to this period of renovation.

IN ALL THESE years Mr. Brinkman has headed what can be termed the finest maintenance program of the running area of any race track. Each year they experiment and build new types of equipment in order to maintain an up-to-date service program. They currently have approximately $78,000 of equipment with which to carry on their year-round maintenance and have their own machine shop and garage.

Track harrows, track floats, and sprinkler trucks are all important items in the manicuring of the track. Mr. Brinkman recalled when the harrows, designed primarily to harrow out the hoofprints, were drawn by horses. The floats are used to level off the track while the sprinklers keep the dust down and put life into the cushion of the track.

How did Brinkman gain the job of track superintendent at Arlington Park?

"I STARTED out as a mechanic at Washington about 30 years ago and then transferred to work on the track when Billie Myers, track superintendent, asked me to work with him as an assistant. Myers came to Arlington and worked for 3 years, then John Hertz and Otto Lehman, heads of the old company which operated Arlington, gave me the superintendent's job. They sold out to Mr. Lindheimer and he kept me on in the same capacity.

"We have 24 employees with Arlington's Lester Dobbins having worked with the sprinkling truck for 25 years. My son, Clarence Brinkman Jr., who was practically raised at the track, has been with us for 8 years."

Brinkman Sr. is also in charge of the 2 modern emergency repair trucks which constantly patrol the parking lots looking for troubled and distressed motorists. And there are plenty to be found!

LAST YEAR they serviced 1800 cars with repairs ranging from tire changes, tire repairs, and stalled motors to unlocked cars and people who were unable to find their cars. Harry Sheer, public relations man for Arlington - Washington Parks, reports that they are the only tracks in the country that do these minor repairs free of charge.

An interesting sidelight on the maintenance program carried on by Mr. Brinkman and his staff is the care and work spent on the "million dollar" grass oval. It's a mile around and according to Mr. Sheer, takes thousands of gallons of water, thousands of man hours and some of the trickiest planting procedures known to keep it in velvet surface.

In a report, prepared a year ago by Mr. Sheer with assistance from Mr. Brinkman, the complete program revolving around the care of the grass course was outlined. Here's what the track superintendent had to say on the story behind the grass courses at Arlington-Washington which were the first scientifically banked courses ever built:

"IT TAKES ABOUT 4 years to grow a stand of grass suitable for thoroughbred racing . . . then there are weeds . . . dandelions . . . excessive sun . . . heavy rains . . . just like home.

"But almost 15 years of trial, error and prayer has given us a formula which we use successfully at Arlington, and which Clarence Noel, who handles the Washington Park grass course, has perfected.

"Removal of weeds and other killers without injuring the grass course brought us to 2,4-D, a spray and in an average season we'll use 5 to 6 barrels of the stuff.

"WE START preparing the grass course for next year the day after we close Saturday—which is Sunday. It's trimmed short and raked to clear the surface of old grass—just like old hair you comb out of your scalp.

"A good covering of snow helps in the winter and as soon as the ground thaws, away we go with a small army of men, using power-driven rollers to flatten out the humps, seeding, fertilizing, ad infinitum.

"What few people know, not even many horsemen, is that the height of the grass is important to these horses. If it's too short, there isn't enough cushion to absorb the powerful impact of pounding hooves. If it is too long, there is a sacrifice of speed and possible injury from stumbling.

"SO WE SET a mamixum height of about 8 inches, and the real job is keeping it that way. We've seen enough of it now to know almost exactly when it's too short or too long."

Clarence J. Brinkman is an expert in his field who practically grew up with the race track. He can justifiably be termed the manicurist of the Arlington Park Jockey club.

Broncs, Dons, Millers, Spartons Pace Minors

The only thing that can be concluded after all these days of baseball in Arlington's Minor League is that the 4 division races get closer and closer with each ensuing week.

As of the week ending June 30, the only team with a little breathing room was Dons who held a 1 game margin over the second place Stars in the Southside Intermediate loop. All the other leaders are on top of their divisions by less than 1 game. Currently holding down the first place spots are the Broncs, Dons, Millers, and Spartans, but by next week any one of 10 other teams could be on top.

THE BRONCS opened up the week's report in the Northside Intermediate division with a resounding 13-5 victory over the Comets. Robertson took the victory on a yield of only 6 hits.

Broncs .....424-21—13-14
Comets .....001 04— 5- 6

Another impressive victory was turned in the Northside Intermediate loop when the Saints pounded out 11 hits and pushed over 15 runs in a 15-4 victory over the Colonels, June 26.

Colonels .....002 200— 4- 4
Saints .....224 70*—15-11

Rounding out the reports from the Northside Intermediates, the Redbirds trounced the Bruins, 14-3; the Broncs slipped by the Bruins, 5-4, and the Comets overpowered the Saints, 11-5.

HEAVY-HITTING was also very much in evidence in the Southside Intermediate League with the Seals and Solons, supplying the big offensives. The Seals crushed the Solons, 18-4, although they only got 3 hits, and the Solons smashed the Stars, 12-8, with Gramit taking the win. The league-leading Dons routed the Seals, 9-2, June 27.

In action in the Northside Juniors League the Millers and Bisons picked up a pair of wins in last week's play. The Millers edged the Badgers, 3-2, with Grom taking the mound decision and they buried the win-less Gophers, 16-5, June 30. The Bisons edged the Sox, 8-7, and the Badgers, 8-6.

Every team that captured wins in the latest results from the Southside Juniors compiled over 10 runs. Highest score was the Padres' 17-6 victory over the Spartans, June 25, while the Padres and Beavers combined for 25 runs, June 28, in a 15-10 thriller won by the Beavers. Rounding out the Minor League action, the Oaks beat the Angels, 12-9; the Buckeyes edged the Beavers, 10-8, with Anslie gaining the victory, and the Angels decisioned the Spartans, 6-5, with Wittert hurling a one-hitter.

Poole Fords —

Smeby and Larry Webber both collected 3 hits in the productive 12-hit attack.

Monday's important clash at Portage Park was a case of too much Jim Gorman. The big 6-2 right-hander from Portage yielded only 2 hits, a first inning double by Vittum and last inning single by Meinken, while striking out 8 and walking none. Portage wasn't too impressive against Smeby but they bunched their quartet of safeties into 2 innings for the 4 markers. Smeby struck out 12 and walked nary a batter in his very creditable 7 inning stint.

Today (Thursday) the locals will travel to Park Ridge to meet the B club, then on Sunday Park Ridge A will play host to Heights at 2:30. Arlington is slated to travel to then host Portage Wednesday, July 11.

Arlington Lassie On Saturday's Card

Saturday's $105,000 Arlington Lassie Stakes for 2-year-old fillies touches off a string of 8 "hundred granders" on the Arlington Park-Washington Park stakes schedule.

A star-studded field of at least 10 fillies is expected for Saturday's 6 furlongs Lassie, one of the nation's top events for 2-year-old fillies. Charlton Clay's undefeated Leallah, full sister to the sensational Lea Lane, probably will rule the favorite for the 6 furlongs sprint.

She'll have her work cut out for her though—especially in the form of C. V. Whitney's speedy Defilade, winner of 3 of her 4 starts, and second to stablemate Snow White in the filly division of New York's National Stallion Stakes. Snow White also remains a possibility for Saturday's Arlington Lassie.

AN ADDED ITEM in Saturday's Lassie will be the 1956 Chicagoland debut of Jockey Eddie Arcaro, America's number 1 stakes rider, who has accepted the mount on Defilade.

Jockey Willie Hartack has been signed to pilot Leallah and the presence of 2 of America's finest riders will give Saturday's Lassie field that added sparkle.

Others expected to be seen under colors Saturday are Claiborne Farm's Nantua, a daughter of Nasrullah; Donald McKellar's Splendored; Mrs. Elizabeth Muckler's Redruth, and Sam E. Wilson's Slave Dance, among others.

ON MONDAY Arlington will feature the $20,000 added Modesty Handicap for fillies and mares at 1 mile and 1/16 on the grass. Calumet Farm's twosome of Miz Clementine, winner of the New Castle Handicap this year, and Princess Turia, winner of Arlington's Cleopatra Handicap, are expected to head the Modesty field.

Other top-flight fillies and mares scheduled for action are Joseph Tomlinson's Guard Rail; Hasty House Farm's Queen Hopeful; Maine Chance Farm's Honeymoon Handicap victress, Myrtle's Jet; R. N. Webster's Sorceress, and Bwamazon Farm's Judy Rullah, among others.

Jewelers Hold Golf Lead In Mt. Prospect Tuesday Play

Mt. Prospect Jewelers started and ended June with first position in the Tuesday League at Mt. Prospect Country Club. On June 12, Wille Lumber and Fuel held first spot momentarily, but lost it and ended the month in fourth place.

Birdies, rather prominent during the 3 weeks, became almost extinct on the fourth night when Glen Adams, a player for Sundstrom, posted the only one on the 13th hole. On June 5th Becker, Fadaro's A player, and Lyman, B player for Wille, both birdied number 5. Driscoll, A player on the Wille squad, birdied number 9. Mt. Prospect Electric's B player, Don Maihock, birdied the 13th.

FOUR SUB-PAR holes were scored June 12th by 3 players. W. Vander Voort, Busse Motors' E player, birdied numbers 5 and 9. The ninth was also conquered by Jauck, Kruse's A player, while Sundberg, playing E position on his own team, scored a deuce on number 12.

Five birdies were posted June 19th by 4 of the twilighters. Barco and Stofft, A players for Moler's and Mt. Prospect Electric respectively, both conquered the 500-yard first hole and Stofft repeated on number 6. Hal Kutchera, A player for Busse Motors, also birdied number 6 and Fred Jilek, first position player and captain of Hank's Pure Oil, posted one on the 13th hole.

Eddie Moehling Wins Chicago JC Golf Title

A bright new star shone Friday on Chicago's junior golf horizon. He's Eddie Moehling, a slender 15 year old Mount Prospect boy who'll be a junior next term at Arlington Heights high school.

Seldom sensational, but always steady, he outshot all the "name" teen-age golfers Thursday in the third annual Chicago junior championship, sponsored by the junior association of commerce and industry.

Although he had never played the Jackson Park golf club course before, the blond youngster matched its par with a 34-35-69 performance. The new champion's home base is Rolling Green Country club. Ed finished Thursday a stroke ahead of Bob Kletcke, 1955 Illinois state jaycee junior winner from Morgan Park high school. Kletcke, who plays out of Glen-eagles country club, shot 34-36-70.

WHO'S SELLING WHO? That's the big question in Arlington Heights these days as Byron Sayre and Dick Black push the ticket sale for the Chicago Cardinal pro football intrasquad night game August 9 on the local high school field. Sayre is ticket chairman, Black president of Arlington Cardinals Booster club.

Benefiting from the game will be the Little Leagues of Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling, as well as the local Booster club, which furthers sports interest at Arlington high school. Public sale of tickets is now in progress at $2 for grandstand seats. Fans are urged to order early, can use the blank provided elsewhere on these sports pages.

Meet The Cardinals

Compton, Huske In Scramble For Cards' Quarterback Slot

The Chicago Cardinals' professional football squad will play an intrasquad game in Arlington Heights on the night of August 9. Tickets are now on sale for the game at $2.00 each under sponsorship of Arlington Booster Club with the cooperation of Little League baseball teams of Arlington, Mt. Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Wheeling, and Prospect Heights.

Mail orders are now being accepted by the Booster Club. Elsewhere on the sports pages of this paper will be found a convenient order-by-mail blank to be used for ticket orders. Game will be played under actual regulations and full game conditions. Seating capacity at Arlington High School stadium where game will be played under lights, is limited to 4000. In all probability, the game will be a sellout. Football fans are therefore urged to order all tickets at an early date.

The following thumbnail sketches of a few of the Cardinal players is one of a series to better acquaint local football fans with some of the players they will see in action on the night of August 9th.

LEO SANFORD, center and linebacker, is in his sixth season with the Chicago Cardinals. Sanford attended high school in Shreveport, La., and was football captain and class president in his senior year. He has started in every National League game (60) since joining the Cards, and he has scored 2 touchdowns. His greatest thrill was a pass interception and 48-yard return for a touchdown in the Cards' 24-17 victory over the Chicago Bears in 1953.

Jack Simmons, center from Detroit, is in his sixth year with the Chicago Cardinals and ninth in professional football. He has started every game since entering pro ball and now has a record of 98 consecutive league games. Simmons started with the Baltimore Colts in 1948, joined the Detroit Lions in '49, and was obtained in a player trade for Vince Banonis in 1951.

OGDEN COMPTON, quarterback from Hardin-Simmons, completed 22 out of 61 passes for the Cards last fall for 339 yards and 1 touchdown. He is an exceptional passer but needs experience as a ball handler. Compton was an All-Border Conference quarterback in 1952 when he completed 51 out of 94 passes, good for 729 yards and 9 touchdowns.

Another in the Cardinals' crop of quarterbacks is a man from Southern Illinois University in Carbondale and outstanding signal-caller at Fort Belvoir, Vo., the past 2 years, Joe Huske. Huske attended Lane Tech in Chicago where he starred in basketball and football. He earned 4 letters at SIU and was third in the nation in passing in 1953 when he completed 91 out of 181 for 1200 yards and 7 touchdowns. Huske stands 6-1 and weighs 185.

FRANK BERNARDI, halfback from Colorado, is in his second year with the Cardinals. Frank played great ball both ways last year and head coach Ray Richards plans to use him more on offense this season. He's a good pass receiver, ball carrier, and exceptionally fine blocker. Bernardi was an All-City and All-State selection while playing football for Austin (Chicago).

Tony Branoff, halfback from Michigan, will be starting his first year with the Chicago Cardinals. He was Cards' 23rd draft choice this year and is 5-11, weighing 190. Tony was an All-State back at Flint (Mich.) Central High. In sophomore year at Michigan Tony played 412 minutes, more than any other member of the Wolverines and averaged 4.9 yards per carry, caught 11 passes for 151 yards and scored 6 touchdowns. In 1954 he was out most of the season but he bounced back last year to lead the Wolves in rushing and total offense.

Blacks Strengthens Hold On 1st Place In Twilight Golf

Black's Memorial Home took a firmer hold on first place in the Arlington Heights Twilight League playing at Mt. Prospect Country Club. They picked up 8 points while the Koops Mustard team, which was tied for first last week, could only win 5 points.

The Schiller Carpet team, which held down last place for several weeks, has been winning regularly the last month and has now moved into fourth place. They took 9½ of a possible 12 points from Arlington Pharmacy in last week's play.

R. Ackerman, J. Eiler and W. McGregor tied for low gross with 39's. R. Krentz had the low net with a 30. The birdie shooters were Borgardt on 13 and 15, Luczak on 7 and 9, Otto on 1, Whitcomb on 4, Ackerman and Lohr on 7, Fuhr and Krentz on 9, Service on 13, Dobbelaere on 15, and Eiler on 18.

Pontiac Breaks Stock Car Marks

A 1956 Pontiac broke all known existing stock car records for speed, endurance and safety and set a new 24-hour stock car distance record June 26 on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah. The car's average speed was 118.375 miles per hour for the flying start, 118.333 for the standing start and 126.02 miles per hour for the first 100 miles.

Driven by famed race car driver, Ab Jenkins, and his son, Marv, under NASCAR observation, the 1956 stock model Pontiac covered 2,841 miles in the 24-hour period. The record tops the previous 24-hour stock car mark by 219 miles.

The 73-year-old Jenkins, world famous for speed records he has set on the Bonneville Flats in his special race car called the "Mormon Meteor," used the 285 h.p. Pontiac for his first try at stock car speed records. During the day, when the temperature over the blistering salt flats rose to 130 degrees in the sun, Jenkins' fastest time around the 10-mile lap was 126.65 miles per hour and his fastest lap during the night was 125.5 miles per hour. The circular track was marked with reflectors and an oil strip center line to guide the driver.

Jenkins, known as the "world's safest driver," is a Safety Consultant to Pontiac Motor Division.

IN THE SHADOW OF THE STEEPLE

How Can Church Guide Our Economic Lives?

by WILLIAM O. McGILL

In what direction should the church guide the people who live in an economy of abundance?

This is the final phase of our understanding of the recent study conference on economic life of the National Council of Churches.

IN RECENT WEEKS, I have summarized the first two questions of the conference, How can abundance be a problem, and what is automation and what are the economic facts needed to guide our consciences?

Abundance is a benefit to 3 groups of people, each of which must act in responsibility toward the other. The investor divides his benefit between dividends and "plowed-back" capital; the worker divides his benefit between increased wages and shorter hours. A healthy balance between each of these must be maintained.

Voluntarily chosen, self-imposed limitations have always been a part of the Christian adjustment to life, personally and in society. Indeed, this is the basic assumption of constitutional law. We need a healthy balance between individual freedom and social responsibility.

WE ARE USING up natural resources at an alarming rate. Coal, land, lumber, oil and water come immediately to mind. The minimum of Christian stewardship appears to be a more vigorous conservation policy.

Bad housing is a national disgrace. Unrestrained selfishness, unwillingness to adopt community planning, and a failure to apply technological advances to productivity have given us many unnecessarily blighted areas. The rebuilding of our cities for decent housing of our family life is probably the greatest need in our economy of abundance.

If the moral blight of American selfishness and the rising self-interest of other nations is not to bring economic collapse to us all, the American economy must be more helpfully related to the world economy.

THE CHURCHES must rethink their whole program for an industrial urban people. Working men and women in the prime of life are going to have more leisure time than ever before. And they will have wages enough to give them some freedom of choice. Furthermore the number of retired older persons with pensions is constantly expanding.

What will the churches do about this leisure and the means for using it?

The greatest present stimulation affecting our use of abundance is the appeal to covetousness — for the expanding economy depends upon a competitive market. The use of covetousness and the appeal to spend tomorrow's income for today's satisfactions are basic in contemporary advertising. Unless the church of Christ can provide a balancing scale of values to bring a healthy restraint to our present economy, we shall go down as slaves to it. With the discipline of a Christian conscience, the technological machine can destroy itself and us with it.

(For help in the preparation of this series, we are indebted to Marshall Scott, of the Presbyterian Institute of Industrial Relations at McCormick Theological Seminary.) (B10

"OUT OF THIS WORLD," the lively Cole Porter musical, brand new to Chicago, makes its bow at Highland Park's Music Theater, beginning Monday, July 9 through July 22. A glittering cast, headed by popular Kaye Ballard, Bill Hayes and ballerina Mia Slavenska, and backed by the sparkling resident company, will bring to Music Theater audiences the saga of the Gods and what happens when they begin to roam. The humorous, colorful musical is particularly adapted to in-the-round production.

Music Theater audiences will remember Bill Hayes for his smash role as Lt. Cable in "South Pacific" last year, and his best-selling recordings, plus his many nightclub and television appearances. Kaye Ballard, long-limbed comedienne who will play the Charlotte Greenwood Broadway role, took Gotham by storm when she starred in the prize-winning "Golden Apple."

Union Jack Arouses Ire Of The Irish Every Day Of The Year

by BILL DILLINGHAM

It's easy to start a riot in Ireland. Just wave the Union Jack. Irish hatred for the British government machine is no joke.

On special holidays when the Union Jack is raised above the British Embassy in Dublin, extra police guards have to be posted. Experience has shown that they are needed to discourage rioting.

Local movie houses would be running a risk in showing films of the British royal family. It has been tried and it results in outbreaks.

A DUBLIN motion picture house attempted to show films of the recent coronation, and within a matter of hours the building was bombed.

Another movie house tried to show "Victoria Regina," a film about the life of Queen Victoria (whom the Irish call the "Famine Queen"), but spectators forced their way into the projection room and burned the reels.

Several years ago at Christmas time. English prestige suffered another blow. The Gough monument situated in Dublin (honoring a British army commander) was mutilated. Commander Gough perched on horseback, had his head and sword sawn off.

FOREIGN servicemen of any country are permitted to wear their uniforms while visiting Ireland. The single exception: English soldiers.

In 1951, King George VI was planning to visit Northern Ireland for the purpose of christening a ship. When this was announced, a bomb exploded in the British embassy in Dublin. A message followed the bomb telling the king not to enter Northern Ireland. Shortly thereafter, King George VI issued a statement saying that he was ill and couldn't make the trip. He sent his mother and sister instead.

AN ENGLISH tourist, however, will get fine hospitality — provided he leaves his flag at home. It is only British politics that arouse the Irish people. This partly explains why Hitler's embassy in neutral Ireland remained open durin gthe war. It is a little-known fact that some Irishmen even joined the German army. Lord Haw Haw, hanged as a traitor by the British under doubtful legal circumstances, was an Irishman.

Throughout Dublin, one sees calendars for sale that surprise English tourists. One such calendar shows an Irish Republican army soldier trampling on the Union Jack with his boots and holding up the Irish tri-color.

Displaying the Union Jack in Dublin is like waving a red flag to a bull. (Bill

Double Bill On Tap At Grant Park

The third week of Grant Park concerts, presented each Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the bandshell at the foot of 11th street in Grant Park, will feature, for the most part, Chicago area soloists.

A double bill will be presented Wednesday, July 11. The first half of the concert will be a symphonic program under the direction of Nicolai Malko, resident conductor of international fame who resides at 532 Aldine.

The second half of the July 11 program will be a concert version of Bizet's opera "Carmen" by members of the Chicago park district opera guild under the direction of Silvio Insana, 7041 S. Bennett ave.

The Friday, July 13, Grant Park concert, under the direction of Mr. Malko, will be a symphony program. Win Stracke, popular Chicago singer and narrator, will be heard in the narration of "Peter and the Wolf."

Grant Park concerts are presented free by the Chicago Park district. They start at 8 o'clock. The series will continue through Sunday, August 19. (Bill

Local Agent Reports AAL Hits $1 Billion

The Aid Association for Lutherans, represented locally by Henry J. Hasz of Mt. Prospect, Illinois, recently became the first fraternal insurance society to attain $1 billion of legal reserve life insurance in force, Hasz reports.

As the life insurance society neared the billion dollar milestone, an hour by hour check of insurance in force was kept. New certificates were added. Matured and lapsed contracts were deducted. The historic moment was determined exactly at 3:30 p. m. on May 10.

Besides establishing a new landmark in legal reserve life insurance for about 200 fraternal societies, it also made the Aid Association for Lutherans the 41st out of approximately 1,200 U. S. life insurance firms to reach $1 billion of ordinary insurance in force.

The A.A.L., founded in 1902, operates on the general agency system. It has 43 general agents and more than 350 district and special representatives. They cover 40 states, the District of Columbia, and five Canadian provinces.

Sales are limited to Synodical Conference Lutherans, less than 2 percent of U. S. population. Today the A.L.L. has 461,539 member-owners. It has $212 million in assets, $110 for ever $100 of liabilities.

Chamber Music

will be presented Monday, July 9.

An evening of chamber music by Angel Reyes, violin, and Gui Mombaerts, piano, at Northwestern university. The event, free and open to the public, will be given at 8:30 p.m. in Lutkin hall, Orrington ave. and University pl., Evanston. (Bill

Announcement is made that the Wyoming & North Western Railway to Shoshone on the border of the Shoshone Indian Reservation will be completed July 1. Great preparations are being made at the new town for the reception of the people when the homestead rush sets in.

Horace Wild's air ship will begin the flights at White City, Chicago's famous amusement park next Sunday. Mr. Wild feels he will have no trouble at all in sailing over his prescribed 14 mile course, from White City around the down-town tall buildings and return every day without a rain or wind storm.

Elk Grove — Henry Oltendorf's new barn, 36x86 — 16 with 8-ft. concrete basement and hip roof was raised Tuesday. Contractor Louis Menke with a large force of willing helpers had the frame up before dinner; then all hands took hold and boarded it up. A quick job with no mishaps.

Wheeling — Mrs. Chas. Miller came back last Saturday and gave her housekeeper, Mr. Killait the grand bounce. She has decided to run her own house again.

The first Wednesday of each month is market day at Wheeling, Bring on your horses, cattle, hogs, poultry or anything else you have to sell. Buyers will be on hand from Chicago and other places.

The Palatine, Lake Zurich and Wauconda R.R. handled between 2500 and 3,000 passengers over the week-end and Fourth. It taxed the capacity of the road, but the railroad boys were on the job and were able to handle the crowd with a minimum of inconvenience to the passengers.

Derby Day at the Dean track July 4 was all that anyone could ask. In fact it greatly exceeded the expectations of all except Mr. Chas. E. Dean, who modestly says "why the day went just the way I was in hopes it would." Nearly 3,000 people were on the grounds and the great majority of them stayed until the last race was completed. The new grandstand was a popular place. The possibilities of the future Cook Co. Fair Grounds to accommodate large crowds were shown.

Is it worth while? That is what some of the members of the Palatine Band are asking themselves. For over 25 years the local band has been the pride of Palatine. During that time, bands have come and gone in neighboring towns. But the Palatine band has been a fixture. Perhaps too much so. The people of this town have seemingly come to think of the band — if they ever do think of it, as one of the things that are as sturdy as taxes.

The many friends of Mr. Harold Knowe and Miss Evelyn Cole, who for two years has had charge of the primary room of the Palatine schools, were surprised to hear Saturday morning that this couple were married the preceding evening and were at that time on their way to Buffalo by boat.

Bensenville — Franzel's malt drying plant caught fire from the chimney Wednesday but the Vol. Fire Dept. put it out after a hole had been burned in the roof. Mr. Dunteman's team were badly frightened by the hose cart and fire engine and ran away and Mr. Dunteman suffered a broken leg.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Klehm are very happy over the arrival of their first baby boy at their home Sunday. His seven sisters gave their only brother a royal welcome.

F. W. Gieseke will soon have his big department store in shape to properly display his large and varied stock of merchandise People can find just as good bargains in the stores at Arlington Heights as in Chicago.

A 500 mile auto trip without going one foot on dirt roads is hard to believe, but it is a fact that a Palatine party made such a trip. Of course the trip was not made in Illinois or such a fete would have been impossible as this state is way behind neighboring states in road building and is just waking up on that question.

Saturday morning H. H. Hart and family with C. E. Julian and wife left Palatine and by 6:00 o'clock that night the party was in Indianapolis, a distance of 255 miles. During their whole trip they did not strike a dirt road.

30 Years Ago

July 9, 1926

Palatine and a great territory of surrounding country was greatly surprised this week with the announcement that Dr. Carl A. Starck, for twenty-two years a leading physician and surgeon of this community, had disposed of his general practice and hospital to Dr. W. R. Campbell. "Doc" has before given over his practice for short periods while he took much needed vacations but no one dreamed that "Doc" would ever really give up practice in Palatine, but such is the case and Palatine is losing not only a leading physician but an institution, for "Doc" had been on the job at all hours of the day and night for so long a time that Palatine without Dr. Starck would hardly be Palatine.

In the erection of the Starck building Dr. Starck not only gave to this community a much needed and modern hospital but he also furnished modern quarters for a new bank, the post office and the telephone exchange.

The two largest soft drink parlors in Palatine will be closed as a result of action taken by the village board. The charge was made that men under the influence of liquor were seen to come out of those places. It was also reported to the police department that both places were disobeying the village ordinances in obstructing with curtains the view from the street into such places of business.

No longer will the babies born in Arlington Heights be forced to go to Chicago for their wardrobe. It was left to Mrs. Behrens to give to this place a truly baby clothes shop. The Emerald shop was opened primarily and is called an exclusive ladies' lingerie shop; a special department is devoted to the sale of cosmetics, perfumes, etc. which bear their own brand, "the Emerald Shop."

The Beauty department has already proven its need. Last Saturday three operators were kept busy until 10:30 p.m.

The citizens of Arlington Heights have become so accustomed to having new buildings "spring up" about them that many do not fully realize the importance of the present construction activity that is going on in Arlington Heights.

The walls of the Hagenbring building are now going upward. The latest business block that W. F. Krause is erecting is three stories in height. The National Tea Co. will have one store and Mr. Krause expects the post office will occupy the other. The requirements of the government are very stringent but Mr. Krause is willing to make financial sacrifices so that Arlington Heights will have a suitable post office. This is the first three stroy building here; the advancing land values and high building costs have brought about the change.

Any time that this neck of the woods needs a rain all that has to be done to bring down the rain drops is for Arlington Park to open a race meeting. Arlington opened its meeting on Monday afternoon and for the 8th successive year it rained on an Arlington opening.

After 3 years of waiting for a bank, Arlington Heights, a town of 5,000 inhabitants, is practically assured of such an institution. That approval was not easy to secure. Investigtion after investigation was made by the government.

On Friday evening, July 10, the officers and directors of the Mt. Prospect State Bank will be hosts to its stockholders and their wives and husbands. The occasion celebrates the 25th anniversary of the founding of the bank which first opened its doors for business on July 8, 1911.

The Arlington Heights park district at a meeting Monday evening entered into a contract with a Chicago bond house for the sale of the $23,000 bond issue authorized by the voters for the purchase of the site of Recreation Park.

Miss Sarah Mirs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mirs, Arlington Heights became the bride of Mr. Edward Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Malyon, Arlington Heights. A reception was held at Seip's hall, Palatine.

Mt. Prospect State Bank is thirty-five years old Saturday. It opened for business July 6, 1911. William Busse has been its president or chairman of the board the entire period. Across the street from the present bank structure is a small brick building. In a room 20x20 feet the bank was opened on that July day giving a banking institution to the young community — too young even to have a municipal government. The bank which received $11,000 in deposits on its opening day and had assets at the end of the first year of less than $100,000 is today a three and a half million dollar institution.

Arlington Heights village board passed a budget of $142,000 Monday evening. Only a part of that budget will be reflected in the tax levy.

Direct access to Arlington on East Davis street (Mayfair Foods, etc.) is provided in the appropriation passed by the village board. It provides for the purchase of a lot at the end of George street, which will make possible the routing of all truck traffic to the industrial plants over that street.

The people of Mt. Prospect will have the opportunity next Wednesday to go to the polls and place their stamp of approval on the erection of a modern village hall. That village hall is being made possible directly through the cooperative efforts of Commissioner William Busse, the first mayor of the municipality, members of the Mt. Prospect Fire Department and the village board.

If activity continues along the Northwest hwy. at the eastern entrance to the village of Palatine, a second business district will come into being.

HENRY TAGGE, Busse Woods caretaker, rescued the above 3-day old fawn from Higgins road traffic Saturday. There was no sign of its mother, who perhaps forsook her offspring when she discovered it was blind, as did John Keippel, a sergeant ranger assigned to Busse Woods. He secured from a neighbor the bottle and nipple with which he endeavored to keep the animal alive. Tagge estimates there are 20 deer at large in Busse Woods.

QUITE CONTRARY

BY MARY

IT HAS BEEN said that silence is golden and peace is wonderful. This is not necessarily so. At the moment I have so much peace and silence it is making me nervous.

I always thought it would be so nice if the middle ones were gone for a while. They are the busiest, bounciest and brawliest of the lot. With them away for a week, I intended doing what Anne Morrow Lindbergh says we mothers must. Solitude, ah solitude, I thought.

WELL, I HATE IT. I suppose I have been in the midst of chaos for so long it is now my normal way of life. This peace and quiet is beginning to take on definite dimensions. I can feel the weight of it pressing at me from all sides. By the time the girls come back, I shall probably be solitude crazy. You know, like a convict gets stir crazy. This is prison talk straight from Racket Squad, Dragnet, Mr. District Attorney and all those other educational programs.

ANNE SAID that we must commune. I guess I just don't have anything left to commune over. I tried communing over the bills but that way lies suicide. Next on my list was dwelling on nature. But after one has looked the dandelions in their little buttery faces and contemplated the delphiniums or delphinia who appear tired of it all, then what?

While all this inward thought process goes on, I get gloomier and gloomier. So I have taken up baseball with a bang. The games last quite a nice long time and the man who is telling what is going on has a most mellow tone to his voice.

I AM FAST becoming a White Sox fan. I just can't seem to get too whooped up over the Cubs. They seem so sad way behind the way they are. They probably are sad too. And, if they aren't, they should be ashamed of themselves.

Anyway, listening to baseball is far better than rockin and rollin with the disk jockeys. It is better too than finding out how Stella Dallas, who saw her daughter marry into wealth and society so she decided to go out of her life, got back into dear Laurel's life with such a bang.

It all boils down to just one thing. I am lonesome. I miss them. And, I couldn't be more surprised.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

from Patty McArdle

Dear Peg:

I'm sitting in the perfect place to be writing to you about summer, sunshine and sand—on the beach. It's a beautiful bright day; the air is cool, the sun and sand are warm and the periwinkle blue sky is dotted with bits of white fluff. Megan, Bridget and three neighborhood children are digging a huge hole, while warming up from their last plunge in the lake they claim is so delightfully warm (it's icy! I tried it.)

Megan, Bridge and I are very fortunate to have the type of skin that tans rather than burns, so that the only preparation for sunning that we need is baby oil to prevent the skin from drying out.

However, not everyone is so lucky. If you are a white-skinned blonde or red-head who freckles easily and whose tanning efforts invariably result in a lobster red—stay out of the sun. No matter what anyone tells you, you won't get tan even by taking it gradually.

THE TYPE OF SKIN that contains enough pigment cells to protect it from the burning rays can acquire a beautiful bronze veneer. Yet, a person with this type of skin must beware of the leathery look and always use a lubricating lotion or cream. This is especially true when going in and out of the water. Letting the sun "dry" you off also allows the sun to "dry" out the natural oils of your skin.

If, like most of us, you have the in-between-type of skin which easily acquires a light sun-warmed tan, you must watch your exposure time carefully, those extra few minutes can mean the difference between a tan and a burn.

For all sun-lovers there are certain precautions to be taken: your eyes suffer from harsh sunlight with headaches and eyestrain resulting. Select good sun glasses with scientifically designed lenses. Your hair needs protection from the sun. Wear a scarf or sun hat (there are so many attractive little straw hats for this purpose) if you are going to be in the sun very long. Also applying a cream hairdressing will prevent the sun from drying it out.

SUMMERTIME IS THE TIME when we all look especially pretty so let's take full advantage of it. Be sure your feet are as attractive as your hands—remember they are just as noticeable in those summer sandals. Apply the same color of polish on your toenails as you do your fingernails. And most important, rub away ugly heel callouses with pumice stone. Then soften your heels with a hand cream.

The humidity plays havoc with the loveliest of hair styles, but, you can reduce wilting considerably by applying one of the liquid spray nets before going out.

Keep your make-up as glowing as the summer sun. If you are the pale blonde or red-head, choose a pinky-beige foundation with rose or coral rouge and lipstick. If you are the brunette who achieves a deep tan, yours is the orange-toned lipstick and rouge and tan foundation and powder. For the brownette a rosy-tan powder and foundation and a clear red lipstick and rouge. Use cologne and skin freshener as often as you do soap and water. It's amazing how fresh and cool you feel, after a bath, if you splash a light summer cologne all over your body. Set your hair with cologne too; it dries quickly and helps to keep the curl in. Above all, relax and have fun this summer!

My love,

Patty

THE FENCE POST

Letters to the Fence Post should be short and concise. All letters must be signed, though name will be withheld if desired. Address Fence Post, Paddock Publications, Inc., Arlington Heights, Ill.

Route 83

In the Mt. Prospect Herald of June 21 you discussed at some length, under your Editor's column, the problem faced by the village of Mt. Prospect regarding the routing of Route 83.

As an interested home owner in Mt. Prospect, I have for some time sought the answers to this situation and was particularly impressed with your views with regard to the timeliness for possible corrective action.

FURTHER, with the advent of the Lions Park development, as well as the new Lions Park school, it would seem that the problem of Route 83 will not only be one of concern due to the disturbance caused by the road, but also the great potential safety hazard for the children who will be required to, or naturally will, be crossing this route in greater numbers soon.

Everyone with whom I talk indicates his awareness of the situation but seems completely frustrated as to what an individual citizen, or a small group, might do. No one knows where to begin, or who to contact, how to act, or whether efforts would only prove fruitless due to political considerations beyond individuals' control.

MAY I SUGGEST that you continue to make a point of this problem in your paper and beyond bringing it to the front also give suggestions as to the actions which can or should be taken by interested citizenry?

You doubtless are aware of the great latent interest. Perhaps you, too, can understand the frustration of those of us who know not which way to turn to overcome this presently difficult situation, which is sure to grow into an even greater problem shortly.

No Curfew Needed

Many unpalatable restrictions on personal freedom have to be accepted in order that people can live together. This is the justification for a wide range of laws ranging from traffic regulations to curfews for teen-agers.

But unless such a restriction is necessary to the public welfare, it should be resisted strenuously by evenyone who prefers a free society to a police state.

I HAVE SEEN no evidence that Arlington Heights needs a curfew. Trustee Hoover is quoted as saying that "local authorities dealing with youth favor it." The opinion of law enforcement agencies can't be allowed to determine such matters because they naturally tend to favor laws that make their work easier. In nations lacking our checks on the police power, the police readily find pretexts for applying curfews to the whole population.

The form of the curfew is particularly objectionable because it contains a contradiction.

IN EFFECT, Trustee Hoover and the other village board sages presume to tell parents: "We know better than you what time your children should be home, so we'll relieve you of your authority in this matter."

At the same time that the village board is undermining parents' influence, it adds: "But if you don't show authority over your children we'll put you in jail."

My children are still much too young to be affected by the curfew, but I strongly resent this invasion of my home by the village trustees. Let them concern themselves with the water shortage and other such matters which are their business.

Heart Breaking

Isn't it unlawful to burn your paper and trash so close to your neighbor that it burns trees and shrubs or bushes?

This is happening to me. I don't like to say anything, but I wish you would enter a note in the paper stating this fact. I would never do this mean thing and certainly appreciate it as several others would.

Maybe the Fence Post could stop it. Its heart breaking. I have a 6 ft. tree which has been burned.

Resident.

Top Favorite

For some time now I have been meaning to write to you in regard to your Mary of Quite Contrary.

Our whole family enjoys her immensely — her wonderful wit, her whole-hearted appreciation of day-to-day living, her succinct observations and her inimitable manner of writing about everything. In fact, "Well, what did Mary say this week?" is almost a weekly topic of conversation in our home.

To me personally — that is, on a feminine basis — I would vote her one of my top 3 favorites in all of Chicagoland.

Be Practical

With the water being the problem it is — and finances the way they are — a water tank is a water tank, so why not be practical and get the one that does the best for the most people?

Straw Votes

Here are 2 straw votes for the water storage tank like Mt. Prospect has, which may not be so good looking but should really help the EVERY SUMMER water shortage and be less expensive to build.

Win Scholarships

Three local high school graduates were University of Illinois scholarship winners, as announced by Noble J. Puffer, Cook county superintendent of schools. More than 750 students from Chicago and Cook county schools took all day examinations April 28 with 72 winning the scholarships.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

One of the easiest things in life is to make a promise, and sometimes one of the hardest things is to keep it — unless we form a habit. That habit is never to promise without keeping it.

A friend of yours may say, "Why don't you folks come over," and of course you answer the easiest and most natural thing that you can, "Why, of course we will come, soon. We're delighted!" But you forget and the promise is never kept, or circumstances make it impossible to keep it.

YOU BORROW a book and say, "I will return it next week," but the book is in your book case or on a shelf for months, and perhaps may never be returned.

We are always making promises — promises to help with a project, to do a favor, to live better lives, to go to church. We break these promises at will, and what is worse, can always find a means of justifying our carelessness or neglect. This not only hurts other people, but reflects on our own integrity, and in facts, weakens our moral nature.

PROMISES are intended to be kept, and should be kept promptly on the day and in the manner that we say we will. A man once said that the way to hell is paved with good intentions. We should not only intend to make a promise, but also keep that promise.

And so, making promises should be done sparingly, seriously, or not made at all.

Always keeping promises and living up to our decisions if it is at all possible to do so strengthens character and not only gives one a good opinion of ones self, but helps others to have a good opinion of us as well. They are good moral builders only if they are fulfilled. (G

LAST WEEK'S HEADLINES

Resume of front page news that appeared in various editions of Paddock Publications and other newspapers of the area that will keep readers informed on headline news of their neighbors.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

A curfew ordinance banning youngsters under 16 from streets and other public places between the hours of 11 p.m. and 5 a.m. was given its first reading at a village board meeting. This measure and another providing for the village's first full-time firemen were expected to pass easily at this week's meeting.

PALATINE

The village board passed a set of restrictions practically stopping commuter parking within 3 blocks of the Chicago North Western depot. Home owners deprived of the use of curb space had protested. However, commuters may park for 25 cents a day at a lot recently opened on the railway right of way and there are good prospects for a second and larger commuter lot nearby.

A resolution passed last week appropriated $16,477 in state motor fuel tax funds for street maintenance and improvement.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS

Residents of Prospect Heights and surrounding area will be asked next month to cooperate with the Lions community service corp. in the construction of a $100,000 swimming pool and bathhouse. A 4-acre tract on the northeast corner of Elm st. and McDonald rd. has been acquired for the pool. The corporation, to finance construction, will issue first mortgage bonds at $100 each, bearing interest at 5 per cent per annum.

MT. PROSPECT

Sherman Canty of Mt. Prospect, a primary candidate for state representative from the sixth district, has withdrawn his petition for a recount of all votes cast April 10 in the primary election.

ROLLING MEADOWS

The city's second budget since incorporation last year calls for an increase of more than 50 per cent in appropriations. It jumped $47,129 to a new high of $130,500 for the fiscal year of 1956-57. Of the increase, $27,000 is to go for additional police protection and nearly $13,000 for the fire department.

Other city news included announcement of plans to build a church edifice for the Trinity Lutheran congregation and for repair of pitted streets in the older sections of the city.

THIS SIX-WEEKS OLD GRACKLE named "Dropper"—because it swalled an eye dropper with which it was being fed—has a voice like frog with tonsillitis and its feathers are fuzzy and not very colorful. Home Cement Repairs Easy

A good many families this summer are faced with minor household repairs exposed by spring housecleaning or which have been put off during the winter months. One of the major chores around some homes is tuck pointing. Sidewalks and patios are other cement repairing jobs facing the home handyman.

Winter ice, wind and cold weather are very damaging to cement work around the house, but it's not too difficult to repair most of them with the proper tools.

Most hardware stores now stock bags of ready-mix cement, developed with the home handyman in mind. Such cement is easily mixed with water in an ordinary galvanized steel pail, and is applied like regular cement right from the pail.

The only tools needed for most of the cement repair jobs are the proper amount of cement, a trowel, a mixing paddle and a galvanized pail. (DL

THE WATER IS GONE, the cement is in, the blocks are next. That's the up-to-date story of the latest addition to the publishing plant of Paddock Publications where a new press will be installed this fall. The press will print twice as many pages as the old unit, will have color if desired. Increased circulation of 2½ thousand each of the past 3 years has made the expansion a must in Paddock's attempt to keep pace with the area. —Staff photo

Peaches Accent Welcome Hot Weather Salads

Fresh peaches lend a special color and taste to summer salads. They are easy to use and yellow peaches are good sources of vitamin A.

A refreshing peach and berry salad can highlight many luncheons for you this summer. For six servings, use twelve fresh peaches, a head of lettuce, separated, one and one-hlaf cups of red raspberries, raspberry jelly and watercress.

Peel, stone and halve the peaches. Arrange two peach halves on lettuce for each serving. Place several raspberries on each half. Fill centers of peaches with jelly, and garnish with watercress. Top with mayonnaise.

* * *

IF YOU WANT a low-calorie salad, make individual salads with six pineapple slices, a small head of lettuce, six peach halves, mayonnaise and six red cocktail cherries.

Place a slice of pineapple on lettuce leaf, and top with a fresh peach half dotted with mayonnaise. Garnish with a red cocktail cherry. This makes 6 salads. (DL

Plan Those Summer Meals Around Stunning Salads

With a little imagination, you can make a simple but stunning salad the foundation of a summer meal.

Salads for appetizers, main dishes or desserts are easy ways to add color, flavor and texture. Crisp green salads combining bright red tomatoes and radishes, golden carrots, shiny green peppers and crunchy celery make quick cool meals.

A TRAY of crisp, colorful vegetables and a variety of spicy salad dressings provide a pleasant chance for guests to make their own salads.

Cantaloupe filled with lobster, shrimp in pineapple shells or crabmeat in avocado pear halves make a combination to add a party air to any meal.

Tomato aspic rings and other molds can be filled with chicken or tuna salad and served as a main dish. Salmon or tuna molds and different frozen salads can be prepared early in the morning or at other convenient times.

Salad sandwiches using tomatoes, cottage cheese, ham strips or bacon and eggs are filling and cool for warm days.

For a change, substitute pineapple chunks for the eggs in your favorate chicken salad recipe. Remember to use rather large pieces of fruits and meats, because they are attractive and easy to eat.

CREAM PUFFS filled with a meat or fish salad make small finger foods or large individual servings.

Cooked vegetables, such as broccoli and green beans, may be combined in different ways with raw vegetables for variety in your summer salads.

Not all salads need be cold. A hot baked chicken salad using chicken, peas, celery, onions and salad dressing is a popular hot dish.

A nutritious salad, hot bread and high-calorie beverage can please and satisfy your family on busy summer days. (DL

Cooking Jam On Sultry Day Can Be Appealing!

Everyone knows how good homemade jam tastes on a cold winter morning.

But how appealing is the thought of cooking that jam on a sultry summer day?

Mary McAuley, University of Illinois foods instructor, suggests that you solve this problem by making uncooked jam. With this method, no heat is required. The fruit is not cooked, and the jelly glasses are not sterilized.

HOWEVER, the jam must be stored in a refrigerator or freezer.

The recipe for uncooked jam calls for black or red raspberies. Wash the berries, drain, place into bowl and crush with a potato masher.

Measure 3 level cups of fruit into another bowl. Sprinkle with 6 cups of sugar and let stand about 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then add one-half cup of liquid pectin and stir constantly for 2 minutes. Pour into 9 8-ounce clean jelly glasses.

* * *

LET STAND at room temperature about 24 hours, or until jelled. Seal with paraffin and store. The jam may be kept in the refrigerator for as long as 6 weeks or stored in the freezer for a longer time.

Besides being easy to prepare, this uncooked jam is a bright color and has a special fresh fruit flavor.

You can always use it on toast or hot breads. Or you may want to try it as an ice cream or dessert sauce. (DL

GROUND WILL BE BROKEN in midsummer for the Mutual Trust home office building to be constructed in downtown Chicago, at the northeast corner of Wacker drive and Monroe street. Plans prepared by the architects call for 6 floors of office space and a 2-level underground parking garage.

The building will be constructed of plate glass and porcelain enamel steel, in 2 shades of blue, with stainless steel spandrels marking off the porcelain enamel and glass sections. It will be the first office building in the Chicago area to employ the colorful and practical new porcelain enamel material. Glass fiber drapes in shades of gold will provide an effective contrast to the blue of the porcelain enamel. At night, the building will be distinctively lighted by means of special fixtures between the windows and the drapes.

Additional floors may later be added to the building.

Officials of the company living in this area include Lawrence K. Smith, 611 W. Wing, Arlington Heights, associate actuary of the company; and Torsten H. Johnson, 146 Roselle road, Roselle, assistant vice-president and assistant treasurer of the company.

Jack Koske Believes In Spreading Talent Around

Jack Koske, genial owner of Jack's Shell service at 830 W. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, doesn't believe in doing things by thirds.

Thus, when it came to handling parts and servicing for auto electrical systems, Koske decided that if he was going to repair one make of car he might as well do the same for all makes.

So he acquired franchises from United Motors Service, Autolite and Holly, each one of which specializes in electrical systems for one of the big three car manufacturers.

KOSKE IS celebrating his third year in the Arlington Heights location all during the month of July. Each year, he says, the volume of business has grown, until his service station and repair shop, handling all types of repair work except body and fender jobs, is now one of biggest locally.

His specialties are carburetor, ignition and hydramatic work and the shop boasts the only Visuliner wheel alignment service in the area. BB)

Racing Form Editor Leaves Mt. Prospect

Arthur E. Langmayer, widely known thoroughbred racing authority, has resigned from Triangle Publications, Inc. His resignation became effective June 28. Langmayer had been with the racing publishing firm 31 years.

Langmayer's progressiveness during the late 20s and 30s was rewarded with appointments to editorship of the old Chicago Daily Telegraph in 1940. During racing's transition from an average to major sport in America, Langmayer's rise in the organization was rapid. His foresightedness formulated the original format of Steeplechasing in America. He was production manager of that valuable addition to turf's library during 1948-53.

Probably, Langmayer's greatest contribution to racing was practically a complete revision of turf's accepted "Bible" — the annual American Racing Manual, which he edited for the past decade. He also is responsible for the present conciseness of the monthly chart books.

In 1942, Langmayer was appointed managing editor of Daily Racing Form in Chicago by publisher Kenneth M. Friede. His executive ability soon was recognized and "Art" became executive editor of that publication the following year. In 1944, Langmayer was named editor of the Form; also the Chicago Daily Telegraph, being in complete charge of all editorial functions, including personnel. In 1952, he also became statistical editor of the Form.

A member of the Thoroughbred Club of America, Langmayer's immediate interest is his No. 1 avocation — fishing. Langmayer has moved his family from 7 Albert st., Mount Prospect, to an eventual permanent residence in Florida. His temporary Gator State resident is in Riviera Beach.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

Humanity's need for effective prayer will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday, July 8.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament" is the Golden Text from Psalms (19:14): "Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer."

The importance of earnest prayer to God is brought out in readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, which will include the following (4:3-9): "What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds. To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done."

Date For 'Knee-High Corn' Should Be Switched From 4th

The traditional date for "knee-high" corn was July 4 in open pollinated days—now, it probably should be set a week earlier because of more vigorous hybrid corn, use of commercial fertilizer when the seed is planted and earlier planting dates.

This year much corn in the western half of the Corn Belt was knee-high by June 20 and by the 25th it would have probably averaged that height all over Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska and Wisconsin.

EAST OF ILLINOIS, corn was much later with planting only being completed by June 20th, in Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania. DeKalb's Michigan crop reporter estimated the prospects there for corn as the poorest in 40 years, with a prospect for abandonment of part of the acreage due to late planting, weeds and poor stands.

Michigan oats also suffered greatly because of the late spring. The late sowed oats grew slowly, headed short and was hurt by hot weather. This was in direct contrast to the fine quality of heavy oats usually harvested there.

The corn borer is appearing in large numbers in the North Central Corn Belt as earlier predicted. Heavy thunder-showers in some areas have had the effect of washing off and destroying some of the young borers, but those remaining are innumerable and hungry. First feeding appears as shot holes on the outer surface of leaves on corn knee-high to waist high; as the young borer grows, it works down into the whorl of leaves in the center of the plant. It is in these early stages that spraying or dusting is effective. D.D.T. sprayed or dusted with the new granules eliminates the young borers after their first few meals.

DR. H. B. PETTY, entomologist of the Illinois Natural History Survey has this rule of thumb to determine whether spraying will pay: "If corn is 45 inches high or more, with leaf extended, and if 75% of the plants are affected so that 5 or more borers can be counted in the new leaves just coming out of the whorl—then it should pay to spray." Take Small Pains - Save Small Grains

Your small grain crop plus a season's work can disappear in a few minutes if fire gets started in your fields.

Exhaust sparks, fuel leaked or spilled on heated engines, careless handling of matches and lighted cigarettes are the major causes of field fires, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

BEFORE STARTING to combine, check for holes in the muffler and tail pipe on your tractor, combine, and truck. If a muffler is located where straw will touch it, put a smooth metal shield under it. Check the fuel lines and carburetors for leaks.

As another safety tip, Hogsett suggests that you avoid backing your truck in a grain field. Whenever you back your truck, you run the risk of the muffler and tail pipe picking up straw. If possible, always pull forward to the combine grain tank.

REFUELING CALLS for care, too. Shut off the engine and let it cool a few minutes. While the engine cools, you can grease and check the machine for any needed adjustment or repairs. Make sure the radiator or screen isn't clogged, since this will cause the engine to heat. A clogged air cleaner also will cause overheating.

If possible, carry a good fire extinguisher with you and know how to use it. (FM

Scientist Convinced About Amazing New Chick Sexing

Dr. A. V. Nalbandov, head of the genetics division at the University of Illinois, says, "I can't believe the results of the new chick sexing experiment. It violates the fundamental belief about hormones; however I am willing to be convinced."

He adds further that 98 to 100 per cent seems to be very high efficiency for such an experiment. When asked whether the genetics department will run any experiments similar to the new chick sexing experiment, he said, "No, we will not."

DR. H. M. SCOTT, head of the poultry division at the University of Illinois, who has written a number of reports on the sex of chickens, said, "It seems to me that people have misinterpreted this experiment. I believe that, even though the outside appearance of these chicks was changed, the internal sex organ cannot be changed permanently. It has long been known, however, that the gonads could be modified toward maleness or femaleness by suitable hormone injections."

In experiments conducted at the Vineland Poultry laboratories in New Jersey fertile eggs were dipped in a hormone solution consisting mostly of androgen to hatch cockerel chicks or of estrogen to hatch pullet chicks. During the incubation period, other substances were added to improve the percentage of hatch and chick livability. Tests on thousands of chicks so far have produced 98 to 100 per cent efficiency.

Prior to the New Jersey experiments the sex organs have been modified by injecting hormones into the fertile egg, but injection of the hormones killed many of the embryos.

* * *

JUST WHAT economic significance do these chick-sexing experiments have for the layer and broiler producer? Dr. D. J. Bray, University of Illinois extension poultry specialist, says that the sexing costs for layers are now 1 to 2 cents per chick. Cockerels of light breeds and egg production hybrids are next to worthless. Ignoring the cost of hormones, it would reduce the price of pullet chicks to producers if the change in sex was functional. If the Vineland technique could be made to produce male chicks at will, it would help the broiler producer, because males grow more rapidly and produce meat cheaper than pullets. (Fm

DOWN ON THE FARM

with Your Farm Adviser
CARL F. MEES

I was glad to have the opportunity to go with more than 100 Chicago farmers on a tour at the University of Illinois.

Don Walker, animal husbandry extension specialist, conducted a quiz on the way down. The time between Chicago and Champaign went in a hurry. He had prepared a booklet on rings of dairy and beef cattle to judge, arithmetic problems and agricultural economics problems. The 10 high scores received books autographed by University of Illinois professors.

Dr. O'Dell, professor of agronomy, discussed the different soil types that were found in various counties. As the train passed through a county, he would tell what type of soil we were looking at.

Associate director T. S. Hamilton gave a welcome to the group when they arrived.

DR. M. B. RUSSELL handed the group a card with 12 kernels of corn attached to it. It aroused a great deal of interest. When Dr. Russell talked to the group, he told them that behind the 12 kernels of corn was a gallon jug. The example was that it took 1 gallon of water to grow 12 kernels of corn. It was astounding to learn that we get more than 4,000 tons of rainfall per acre per year. It takes 2,000 tons of water per acre to grow a 100 bushel crop of corn.

Dr. F. A. Kummerow, professor of food chemistry told us that fats were essential for good nutrition. In other words, many of us have difficulty in keeping our weight in balance. It is better to eat less food than to try to eliminate all the carbohydrates and fat in the diet.

PROFESSOR Sleeter Bull told the group about the research that had been going on in the animal science department and especially about the lean type of carcass that were trying to be developed. How broilers could now be produced to weigh 3½ to 4 pounds in 8 weeks with less feed.

Dr. G. L. Jordan, head of agricultural economics, and Dr. Earl Swanson, specialist in farm management, spoke to us briefly on "Farm Management by Prescription." In other words the subject dealt with putting all these facts of farming into a machine, turning a handle and coming out with an answer of what to expect from the farm. It sounded good on paper. I would say there are too many uncontrollable factors in farming to make it as simple as this.

WE HAD LUNCH in the Illini Union building. On the program was L. B. Howard, dean of the college of agriculture, who spoke briefly on what the college of agriculture was doing. He also presented the awards to the 10 persons who had the high scores from the games played on the way down.

The provost, Henning Larson, brought us greetings from the university in place of Dr. David D. Henry who was out of town.

In the afternoon we toured the south farm. I would like to tell you all the things that we saw, but time and space will not permit it.

We visited a plot where weed killing demonstrations were being conducted. Amine triazole will kill Canada thistles. Randox will kill annual grasses. Dalphon will kill quack grass.

Nitrogen applied in winter if you have a high rate of rainfall will leach. No particular difference in the nitrogen carriers.

* * *

IF YOU WANT to grow 300 bushels of corn per acre as was reported in Mississippi last year, you must have a high population. In the corn plot we saw corn populations from 4,000 to 27,000 stalks per acre. In the 27,000 plots the stalks were small, due to shade. When corn stover yields go down, grain yields go down also.

At the irrigation plot, we were told that it takes lots of water to irrigate. Water must be chemically pure when used for irrigation.

At our stop at the farm machinery section, we heard that if you are going to use spray equipment, aluminum and stainless steel hold up best. Stainless steel was all right for all solutions. Aluminum was okay for nitrogen solutions only. The other materials corroded to the point where they were not recommended.

AT THE LIVESTOCK barns, we saw feeding trials for sheep, beef cattle, hogs, etc. We also saw how to probe hogs to test the back fat that they carry.

The housewife today wants lean cuts of pork. The university is promoting a type of hog in line with this, namely the meat type hog.

FARM LABOR Placement manager John Fairman told me that he is anticipating a shortage of labor for the tomato picking season. Unless orders are placed with him immediately he cannot forward the orders to Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin to get connections for labor during our harvest season.

I would like to urge vegetable growers who do not have sufficient labor engaged for their harvest season to contact Mr. Fairman at once and give him an order so he can get a request in for you. His address is 5306 W. Lawrence ave., Chicago.

This is urgent. Mr. Fairman's phone is AVenue 3-2544.

Expect Good Crop Of Early Apples

Tart Transparent apples will make up the greater part of the Illinois early apple harvest, says Ross A. Kelly, University of Illinois fruit and vegetable marketing specialist. The 1956 early apple crop is expected to be one of the best in recent years.

These greenish-yellow apples, which are excellent for pies and sauce, will be harvested from June 24 in southern Illinois to late July in central and northern areas.

YOU MAY LIKE to try this recipe for freezing apple sauce. Add one-third cup of water to each quart of apple slices. Cook apples until tender.

Cook and strain. Sweeten to suit taste, using one-fourth to three-fourths cup sugar for each quart. Put in freezer containers. Allow about one-half inch of head space in pint containers and about one inch in quart containers. Seal, label and freeze at 0 degrees F. or below.

Transparent apples are also considered fair for eating raw, but poor for baking. (Fm

Sudan Grass Recommended Emergency Crop

Emergency plantings may replace failing permanent or rotation pastures, says J. A. Jackobs, University of Illinois agronomist.

Sudan grass is an emergency crop that may be grazed 6 weeks after seeding. It may be seeded from now until July 1 in northern Illinois and until July 25 in southern Illinois.

PIPER AND SWEET sudan are two pasture varieties recommended by University of Illinois agronomists. Sweet sudan makes good silage too, but both sweet sudan and piper are too coarse-stemmed to make good hay.

Jackobs cautions farmers not to graze sudan grass before it is 14 to 18 inches tall. Livestock grazing on sudan grass shorter than 14 inches may get prussic acid poisoning.

To provide an emergency fall pasture, rye may be seeded about August 10. A seeding of 2 bushels per acre of Balbo rye will provide pasture from September 30 to November 15.

* * *

JACKOBS says winter barley and winter oats may be used in the same way as rye, but neither is as hardy as rye. Winter wheat can seldom be used as emergency pasture because it doesn't make enough growth when seeded after the fly-free date. (Fm

Slate Rural Safety Field Day July 24

The Illinois Rural Safety council is sponsoring the second annual Safety Field Day July 24 at the Livestock pavilion on the University of Illinois campus.

The main objective of the Safety Field day is to give those who have or may have responsibility for local safety programs a chance to become familiar with various demonstrations, exhibits and other safety materials that may be adaptable for use in their areas.

Also we hope that you as an individual will have a better understanding of the safety problem that we face today. (Fm

Best Preservatives Still Ground Ear Corn, Molasses

Ground ear corn or molasses are still the best all-around preservatives for grass or legume silage with a high moisture content, claims K. A. Kendall, University of Illinois dairy scientist.

These preservatives are more efficient and just as economical as the newer chemical conditioners, such as sodium metabisulfite or calcium formate.

KENDALL feels that the main advantage of a corn and cob conditioner is the feeding value it adds to the silage. As much as 85 per cent of the feeding value of corn remains in the silage. The conditioner absorbs some of the excess moisture in the forage, helping to prevent loss of juice from the silo.

The grain provides carbohydrates that ferment and produce organic acids. This acidity improves the keeping quality of the silage.

Ground ear corn can be added at the rate of 125 pounds per ton of grass-legume silage or 150-200 pounds per ton of grass silage.

Molasses improves palatability and adds feeding value. It is an excellent preservative when applied at the rate of 40-50 pounds per ton of grass silage or 80 pounds per ton of legume silage. The gross cost is moderate, and since only a part of the feeding value of the molasses is lost, the net cost is relatively small.

KENDALL REPORTS that sodium metabisulfite has preserved more carotene in some lots of silage, but in other respects its use may be questioned. In trials at the University of Illinois, greater losses through seepage have been observed. It has failed to improve odor and palatability, and frequently produces silage that is less acid than that made with other conditioners.

It also presents a problem when filling an upright silo. Sulfur dioxide is formed that prevents anyone from entering the silo.

Sodium metabisulfite costs approximately $1 a ton, but adds no feeding value to the silage.

Calcium formate has been found to destroy carotene, says Kendall. This carotene loss has caused low vitamin-A levels in cows fed with the formate-preserved silage.

Kendall says farmers who use ground ear corn or molasses should have well preserved silage and the added feeding value as a bonus. *Fm

'Standard' Is Beef Grade On Market

Have you seen the new grade of beef, U. S. Standard, on the market this month? This new grade comes between U.S. Good and U.S. Commercial, says Mrs. Dorothy McIvor, University of Illinois foods specialist.

Under the new grading system, young beef animals with a limited amount of fattening will be graded standard. The older animals will still be graded U.S. Commercial and will be less tender than the standard cuts.

TO COOK the new standard grade beef, use moist heat and cook slowly for a rather long time to get the most tenderness.

YOU MAY WANT to review the grading scale used by the U.S. Prime, U.S. Choice, U.S. Good, U.S. Standard and U.S. Commercial.

Prime and Choice, both tender and fattened cuts, produce most of the steaks and roasts eaten. U.S. Good, which is not so heavily fattened, is next in the scale. The new U.S. Standard is just below it, followed by the U.S. Commercial.

Arlington Cow 4th In Milk Production

A new record placing fourth in milk production among the 10 highest of the Guernsey breed in her class has just been completed by the registered cow, Avalawn Pixie, a 7-year-old, owned by Edward B. Henslee, Henslee Farms, Arlington Heights.

"Pixie" produced 18,735 pounds of milk and 876 pounds of fat in 365 days on two times daily milking and was bred to meet calving requirements. Converted to everyday terms, this record-breaking production represents approximately 8,714 quarts of high-quality milk.

This purebred cow was bred for production. "Pixie," who is classified very good for type also produced 15,261 pounds of milk and 735 pounds of fat, as a senior 4-year-old, in the Herd Improvement register, in the 365 — 2X division. Her dam, Pirna of Chicona, has a record of 11,495 pounds of milk and 532 pounds of fat, made as a senior 2-year-old, in the 365 — 2X division. "Pixie" was sired by Flying Horse Flute's Colonel, that has seven sons and 34 tested daughters in the Performance Register of the American Guernsey Cattle club.

The record of this cow was supervised during the test period by University of Illinois. (Fm

Cool Cows Give More Milk: Prof

Cool cows give more milk during hot summer months, says Dr. K. E. Gardner, acting head of the University of Illinois dairy science department.

He says test run at the University of Illinois show that cows which had no shade suffered greatly from the heat. Cows showed severe discomfort and actually had as much as 6 degrees of fever on bright days when there was no wind.

* * *

AN INEXPENSIVE shade can be made by using pole construction with hay thrown on top of woven wire for the roof. Gardner recommends hay because its cost is relatively low and because it will allow air to circulate through the roof. This shade can be built on skids so that it can be moved.

Be sure to allow 20 square feet of shade for each cow and build the shade near a source of water. On very hot days the cows will stay in the shade and will not walk for water. (Fm

Accept Applications For Navy Enlistment In Special Company

A special company of 75 men from Chicago's north side and suburban communities has been authorized for enlistment in the United States navy on July 27.

High school graduates will have the opportunity to qualify for a navy trade school as well as remain with their buddies during the 9 weeks of recruit training at the Great Lakes naval training center.

Petty officer D. C. Barber of the navy recruiting station at 106 W. Wing st., Arlington Heights, is accepting applications for this special company. A navy recruiter will be at Palatine post office every Monday from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Cool Hogs Boost Profits

Thousands of pounds of hog feed are wasted in hot hogs each summer, says Stanley W. Terrill, animal scientist at the University of Illinois. Hot hogs make slow gains and sometimes die. He says 1,000 pounds of feed are lost every time a market pig dies from the heat.

Shade and wallows are the best ways to stop these losses. Hogs with access to wallows gain 23 per cent faster on 9 per cent less feed.

MOVABLE STEEL wallows are better than wooden ones, as they last longer. A mud hole definitely should not be used. It tears up the field and harbors disease organisms.

Pole-type shades can be simply constructed by supporting a roof on some poles. The roof should be high enough to allow the wind to blow underneath and to let the hogs move freely.

Each pig from weaning to 75 pounds requires 7 square feet of shade. The 75 to 125-pound hog requires 9 square feet, and the 125-pound to market weight hog requires 12 square feet.

IF ADEQUATE water is available sprinklers are an excellent way to keep hogs cool. Terrill says a rotary sprinkler at the end of a garden hose or just a perforated hose in the pasture works fine. The sprinkler or hose should be moved frequently to prevent mudholes from forming. A hose is especially well adapted to concrete lots.

Terrill says either of these methods, if properly used, should reduce swine death losses and increase gains during the summer.

Much Vacation Success Depends Upon Suitcase

Much of the success of your vacation depends on your suitcase. When you plan and pack your vacation wardrobe carefully, you have taken two steps toward a pleasant trip, says Myra Baker, University of Illinois textiles and clothing instructor.

Put odd-shaped articles in the bottom layer of your suitcase. Pack shoes separately in plastic bags or shoe bags, and place them toe to heel at one end of the suitcase. At the other side, place your cosmetic bag. Then roll lingerie and hose and tuck them around the edges.

Fill the center of this bottom layer with items you won't use everyday — bathing suit and cap, jewelry case, evening purse, scarves and packable hat.

DRESSES and suits should make up the second layer. Place your evening and dressy clothes in first and daytime garments next. Pleat tissue paper like an accordion in the garment folds to prevent excess creasing. Fold jackets in major seam lines, and pad with tissue.

Put articles you'll need first on the top layer — robe, slippers, nightgown and cardigan sweater.

You can cut pieces of cardboard to fit your suitcase and put them between the layers as you pack. Then, when you're ready to unpack, you can lift out an entire layer without rearranging the entire suitcase. (B10

Through the Oven Door
by your
Ceresota REPORTER

Does Your Oven Brown Unevenly?

Maybe it's because your kitchen range is a bit on the bias. If your kitchen floor isn't level for any reason, the oven can't do an even job of browning. Just beg or borrow a carpenter's spirit level and put your range on an even keel.

* * * * *

Summer's the time for family fun, for picnics and parties. And that means getting things done ahead of time. One woman tells us she does her baking in the evening after the children are in bed. Another friend doubles her recipes and keeps the dough in the refrigerator, ready to bake at a moment's notice. And then there's the woman who had an old-fashioned Dutch oven built outdoors, and does her summer baking on the patio where her family and friends are gathered!

* * * * *

You've been reading a lot about protein—the substance that body cells are made of—as necessary to life as the air we breathe.

* * * * *

So you who like Ceresota flour for its better baking qualities will be glad to know that you can like it for its higher protein content, too.

That's because Ceresota is made from slow-maturing choice wheats, where nature is bountiful in storing protein. And to preserve nature's goodness, Ceresota is NATURALLY white, because only Ceresota is unbleached.

Summer quick-and-easies.

When you feel the urge to do something interesting with your hands and your recipes, but only want your oven on a few minutes, try the recipe below. Easy to turn out and mighty good nibbling.

CUP CAKES

Out of the oven in 20 minutes!

Ingredients: ½ cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1¾ cups sifted unbleached Ceresota flour, ¼ tsp. salt, 2 tsp. baking powder, ⅔ cup milk, 1 tsp. orange extract, 2 tsp. grated orange rind.

Cream shortening, sugar together. Add eggs. Beat thoroughly. Sift together dry ingredients, add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Add orange extract and rind. Pour into greased 2½ inch muffin pans. Bake at 375° F. for 20 minutes. Top with Orange Icing. Yield, 1½ dozen.

* * * * *

Orange Icing. 2 cups confectioner's sugar, 3 tbsp. orange juice, 1 tbsp. softened table fat, dash of salt. Sift sugar. Slowly add orange juice. Mix well. Add fat, salt. Mix thoroughly.

* * * * *

BUTTERSCOTCH COOKIES

Only 10 to 12 minutes oven time!

Rise In Crop Acres Contrasts With Drop In State Farmland

Illinois farmers have maintained the total number of harvested crop acres while there has been a marked decrease in total farm area in the state.

This indicates a greater degree of intensified land use, reports C. L. Stewart, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

There is a strong contrast between number of acres in harvested crops and number of acres in all Illinois farmland. Stewart points out that during the five-year-period from 1949 to 1954 harvested cropland in the state increased 185,000 acres, while the total farm area dropped by 560,000 acres.

SUBURBAN expansion, highways, forest reservations and other permanent or temporary nonfarm uses have taken land from farms. On the other hand, pasture areas have reflected more intensive use. Former pasture land has been put into crops.

Because harvested crops have furnished the best opportunity for land, labor and capital, farmers have now planted over two-thirds of Illinois farmland in harvestable crops.

FROM 1940 TO 1954, returns per man-hour were 3 to 4 times greater from oil seeds and feed grains than from dairy or poultry production and 10 to 12 times greater than from meat animal production. It is believed that Illinois follows this national trend.

The outlook is a continuation of the present trend. Between 1934 and 1954, the acres of land in farms decreased about 4 percent, while the acres of harvested cropland increased 17 percent. (Fm
